SECRETS OF THE "DEAL OR NO DEAL" BABES IND THE EE AND OF A #496 DECEMBER 2008 $4.99 CHEAP! UNITED STATES madmag.com

THINK YOU KNOW ALL THE MOVESP YOU DON'T. WE DO.

NOWAILABLE

UNLOCKING ALL THE SECRET CHARACTERS REVEALED!

EXPERT AND ADVANCED COMBOS FROM THE TOP PLAYERS AT MIDWAY!

DAMAGE PERCENTAGE FOR ALL THE MOVES!

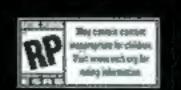

For more information, please go to www.primagames.com

Mortal Kombat® vs DE Universe Software © 2006 Midway Amusement Games, LLC. The Mortal Kombat Universe and all Mortal Kombat characters, their distinctive licenses and related elements are © Midway Amusement Games, LLC. All rights reserved. MORTAL KOMBAT, the dragon logo, MIDWAY, the Midway logo and all Mortal Kombat character names are trademarks or registered trademarks of Midway Amusement Games, LLC. Used by permission. Distributed under license by Midway Home Entertainment Inc. Midway Amusement Games, LLC and its affiliates do not monitor, endorse or accept responsibility for the content of any non-Midway website.

DC UNIVERSE and all characters, their distinctive likenesses, and related elements are trademarks of DC Comics © 2008. All Rights Reserved.

STATES OF IDIOCY

As a longtime subscriber and proud Delawarean, I was incensed at the letter from Mark Guthrie in MAD #494 where he says he's "not pathetic enough to live in Delaware." Maybe you double mocha latte-sipping bozos in Washington would just ignore a comment like that, but them's fighting words here in the First State. Nothing is more pathetic than the NBA franchise-losing, raincoatwearing Canada-touchers that live in Washington. You've been warned, Guthrie. Don't mess with Delaware.

Kevin Lagowski, New Castle, DE

Well, I just happen to be a life-long resident of the "First" state and have been reading and collecting MAD for over 30 years. Although I haven't played the new MAD scratch lottery game, I believe the guy from Washington should scratch something else. Seeing how it rains most of the time out there, he's obviously a little "wet" behind the ears and sounds like he was standing a little too close to Mount St. Helens when it erupted. Go play in a puddle, moron. MAD rules!

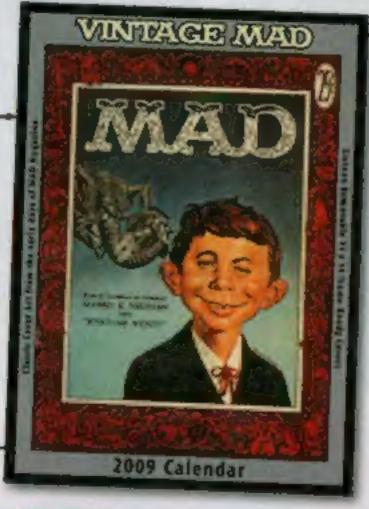

John Stroud, Wilmington, DE

The Big Lagowski and Three's A Stroud — Let's end this feud right here and just agree that both Delaware and Washington shouldn't even be considered states! —Ed.

READER ALERT II

What could possibly be better than staring at a blank wall all year? How about staring at a different vintage MAD cover each month? Well you can, simply by making a date, running out to where calendars are sold and buying the MAD 2009 calendar!

READER ALERT III

Those who had their letters printed on this month's Letters Page will receive NHL2k9 for the Wii, courtesy of our friends at the National Hockey League. For more info please go to nhl.com. You'll also receive the book Spanking Shakespeare, courtesy of our friends at Random House. And if that wasn't good enough, you'll get From Krakow To Krypton: Jews and Comic Books written by MAD-writer Arie Kaplan, courtesy of our friends at The Jewish Publication Society. If your letter didn't make it, go out and complete the hat trick, they're all on sale now!

COMING UP IN MAD #497, ON SALE DECEMBER 16!

THE MAD 20: OUR YEARLY ROUND-UP OF THE 20 DUMBEST PEOPLE, EVENTS & THINGS! COMING UP IN MAD CLASSICS #24, ON SALE DECEMBER 16!

JAMES BOND MOVIES, 90210 AND THE RECESSION!

MAID

William M. Gaines founder

John Ficarra editor

EDITORIAL

Charlie Kadau, Joe Raiola, Jonathan Bresman senior editors

Amy Vozeolas, Dave Croatto associate editors

Dick DeBartolo creative consultant

ART DEPARTMENT

Sam Viviano art director

Patricia Dwyer associate art director

Ryan Flanders assistant art director

Doug Thomson production artist

Leonard Brenner graphics consultant

ADMINISTRATION

Paul Levitz president & publisher Georg Brewer vp - design & DC direct creative Richard Bruning senior vp - creative director Patrick Caldon executive vp - finance & operations Chris Caramalis vp - finance John Cunningham vp · marketing Terri Cunningham vp - managing editor Amy Genkins senior vp - business & legal affairs Alison Gill vp - manufacturing David Hyde vp - publicity Hank Kanalz vp - general manager - WildStorm Gregory Novedk senior vp - creative affairs Sue Pohja vp - book trade sales Steve Rotterdam senior vp - sales & marketing Cheryl Rubin senior vp · brand management Alysse Soll vp - advertising & custom publishing Jeff Trojan vp - business development, DC direct Bob Wayne vp - sales

CONTRIBUTING ARTISTS AND WRITERS

the usual gang of idiots

FOR SUBSCRIPTION QUESTIONS:

Go to the MAD website! All you need is your name and zip code to renew, change your address, give a gift subscription, check your account balance and expiration dates or to request a missing issue. Just go to www.madmag.com or call 1-800-4MADMAG (U.S. and Canada only) or write to P.O. Box 421800, Palm Coast, FL 32142-1800! Please DO NOT phone, write, fax or e-mail our New York office — we're too dumb to help you here!

HOW TO REACH US:

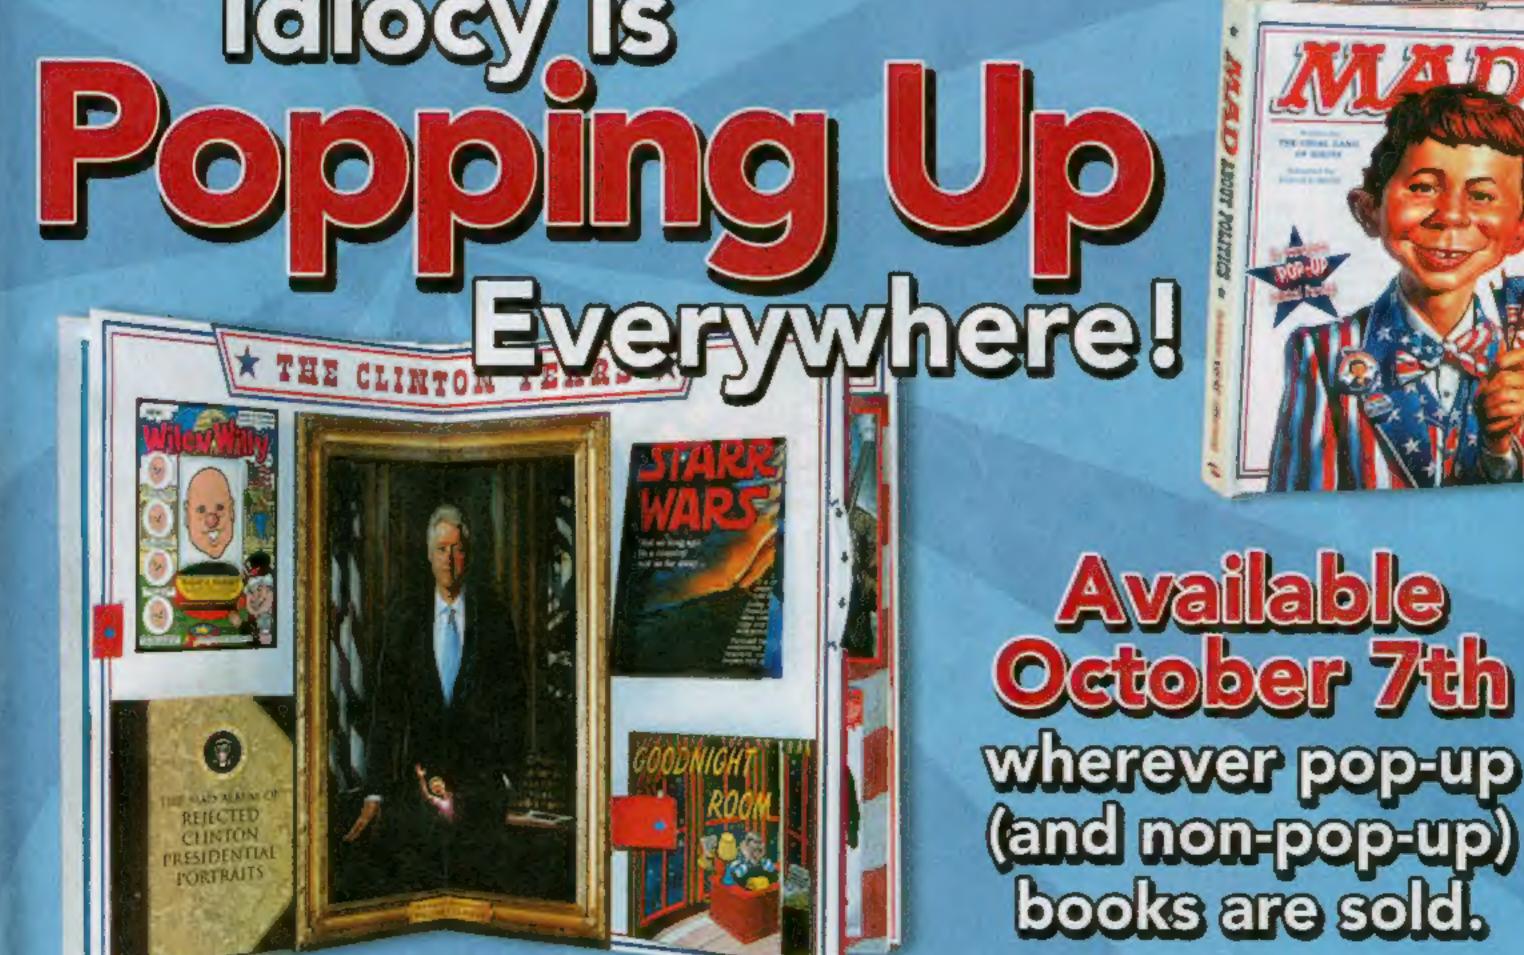

Please Address Correspondence To: MAD, Dept. 496, 1700 Broadway New York, New York, 10019. Or e-mail us at letters@madmagazine.com

MAD welcomes reader submissions. Manuscripts will not be returned or acknowledged, however, unless they are accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope!

MAD doesn't read faxed submissions!

FAX MAD AT 212-506-4848! VISIT OUR WEB SITE! MADMAG.COM

THE FUNDALINI PAGES

THE FAST 5 WACKY AMERICAN LAWS

- You can be jailed in Georgia for wearing an orange jumpsuit.
- A 1903 ordinance in Buffalo, NY states that no professional sports team within city limits may win a championship.
- In Vermont, you may burn an American flag if you add a 51st star or an extra stripe beforehand.
 - In South Dakota, two men may marry each other, but only if one of them has a woman's name, like Kelly or Tracy.
- In Michigan, it's illegal to take out money from a bank unless you have an account there.

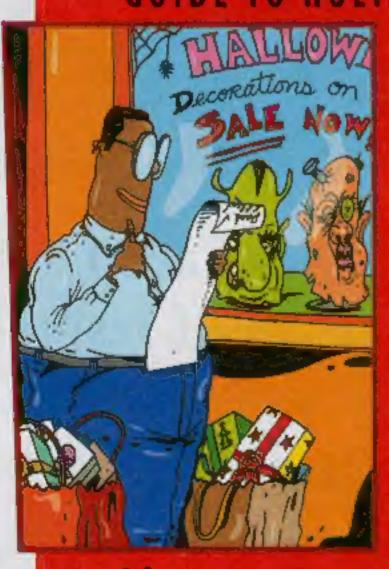

SOLUTION TO LAST MONTH'S "MINI-MYSTERY"

The previously overlooked hair fibers and bloodstains led Officer Hendricks to one conclusion — somehow, Mrs. Featherton had taken an 80 mph running start and thrown herself into the grille of her husband's Bentley.

NEXT MONTH: "The Stuttering Doorknob"!

MELVIN & JENKINS'

Jenkins begins compiling his cross-referenced gift list in September, and has his shopping done by the

Melvin grabs fistfuls of store gift cards as presents, but doesn't put any money on them, and blames "that stupid cashier."

CELEBRITY CAUSE-OF-DEATH BETTING ODDS

This Month

Fatal depression after realizing there's no room left on his face to tattoo anything else.....2:1

Chokes to death on own grill during corn-on-the-cob mishap....4:1

Infected cold sore from creepily kissing rapper, "Birdman," on the lips......10:1

Elected mayor of New Orleans, then assassinated for vowing to rename state "Weezy-ana" in his honor....900:1

6 EASY WAYS TO SUCCEED IN SCHOOL

- Simply showing up for class can drastically improve your grade. Therefore always make certain the teacher has taken attendance and marked you present before sneaking out the back door.
- Organize your time. Set aside specific amounts of time to sleep, relax, eat, watch TV, play video games, surf the web, and talk with Friends. Any time left after that should be devoted to school work.
- Writing down your goals helps you focus on achieving them. Be sure to write them down in pencil because it's easier to change your goals than to achieve them.

- Don't ignore your assignments. Devote sufficient time each night to create a valid excuse of why you didn't do your homework. Keep careful records so you don't repeat the same excuse.
- 5 If you're having trouble in class, ask questions. For example, ask your teacher if his wife knows about that young lady you saw him eating dinner with the other night. Watch as your grades soar!
- G Don't wait until the last minute to insure you'll get a passing mark. Start cheating immediately.

FRIENDS OF FUNDALIN

Charles Akins Jeff Kruse Greg Benson I Jacob Lambert

n Dick DeBartolo

Desmond Devlin Tom Richmond

J.C. Duffy Ward Sutton Darren Johnson Rick Tulka

Consider the amazing history of hip hop music. Hundreds of top performers! Thousands of beats! Tens of thousands of songs! And strangely, just one recurring storyline! Why? Because the career arc of rap music superstardom has a well-traveled groove — and let's just say it doesn't curve up at the end! For proof, check out...

the RSE and FALL

arl Pringle is born in a happy home, in a friendly neighborhood, to parents who love him dearly.

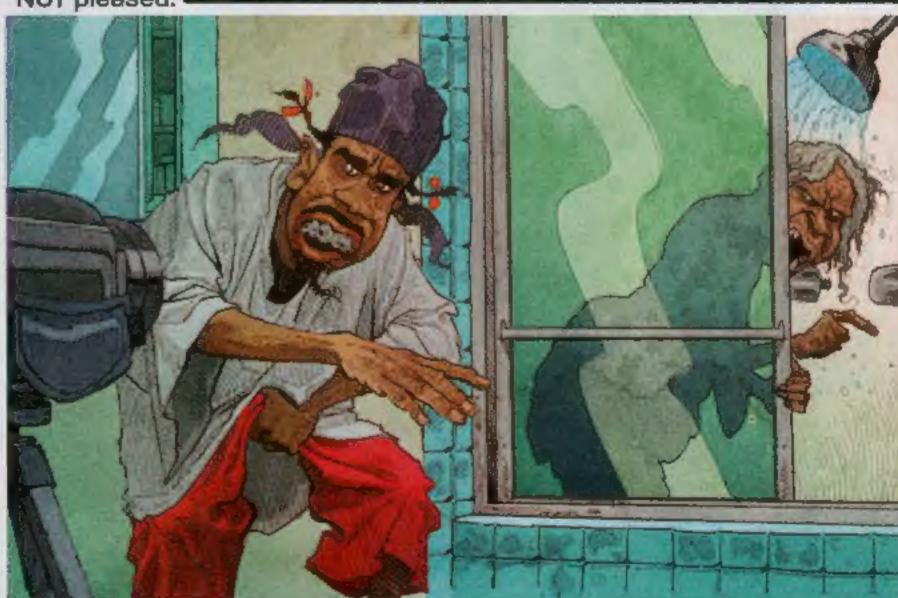

For the sake of his "art" he will never utter a word about this for the rest of his life.

arl's career gets off to a less than auspicious start when a YouTube video of him rhyming over a sample of the Care Bears theme song fails to catch on.

own but not defeated, Carl moves on to his next project: with just a camcorder, he makes a new video. In classic hip hop style, it features a naked woman wiggling her ass behind opaque glass. His grandmother is NOT pleased.

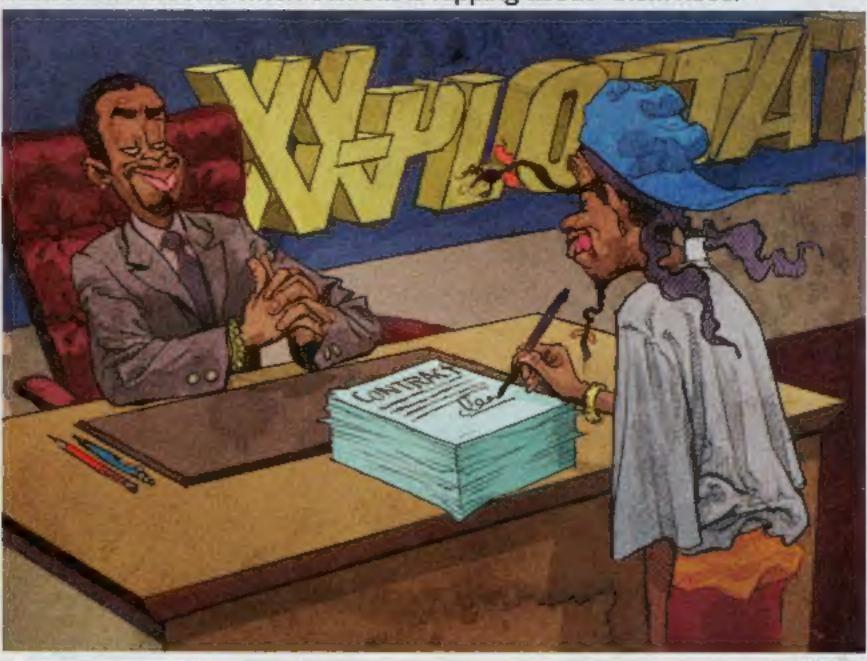

t an open mic night, Carl busts off a tongue-twisting freestyle of 18 syllables per second, breaking the world record. Sadly, halfway through the word "appendectomy," he almost swallows his retainer.

X-Ploitation Records lands Carl a high-profile background cameo in the new Lil Wayne video. Unfortunately, because of all the other guest cameos, no one is aware he's even in it.

esperate to make it in the rap game at any cost, Carl signs a nutbusting contract giving away 100% of the ownership of his masters and royalties to XX-Ploitation Records, exclusively binding him to them for the next 40 years. Having sold his own ass into contractual bondage, it makes it a tad ironic when Carl starts rapping about "them hoes."

"Yung Carl," and is sure to mention in every interview that he was "shot twenty times when he was 17." He is also sure not to mention that this happened while he was playing Halo 2.

ofa SAAR

the RISE and FAIL

ung Carl makes a video for his first single, "Snap It, Crackle It, Pop It." Models are hired to rub against him and pretend they're horny. Bentleys, bling, and bubbly are all rented for the set. Carl wears a borrowed silk designer shirt he'll never see again, while repeatedly rapping about "keeping it real."

Influenced by other rappers' collaborations with singers T-Pain and Akon, both of whom scored hits by recording vocals in a high-pitched vocoder "robot" voice, Carl goes into the studio and boldly applies a half dozen clothespins to his crotch. Not only does he fail to produce a hit, but he forever ruins his chances to father a child.

art's third single, "Drop It Like It's 12," sells just one copy online, but the purchase is made by Bill O'Reilly's assistant's daughter. The song, an ode to prepubescent love that rhymes "Hermione" with "luscious hiney," and "That's So Raven" with "completely shaven" soon comes to O'Reilly's attention and he rants about it on his show. Thanks to the publicity generated by outraged Fox News viewers, sales of the single skyrocket.

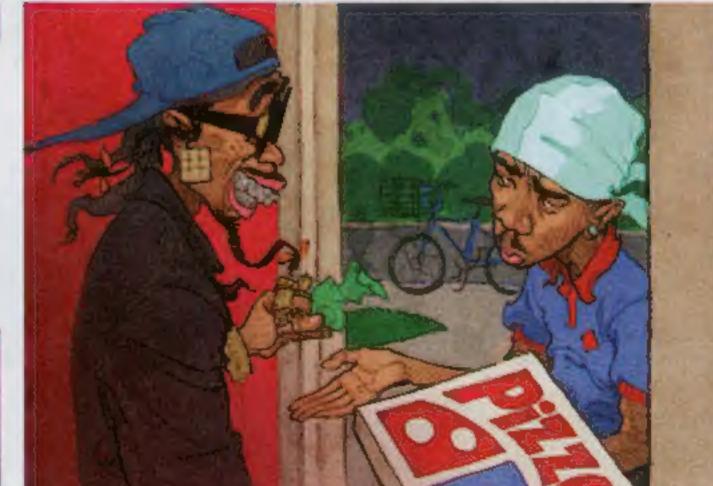

Like It's 12" features a storm of dollar bills with Carl's face raining down on him while he's wearing a sleek snakeskin suit and playing poker with a bethonged woman's silhouette in the shiny "hallway of the future." Despite using so many outdated hip hop cliches, it becomes the biggest video of the year and is so hot that MTV even shows it twice.

n one of those moving, "passing of the torch" moments that only rap music can provide, Ja Rule gives Carl tips on his "flow" and on how to handle overnight success. And Carl gives Ja Rule a valuable tip, too, for getting the pizza to his house in under 30 minutes.

iding high, Yung Carl launches a multimedia company, Microhard. He spends the next chapter of his life developing films, launching clothing lines, selling bottled juice, marketing video games, launching a publishing house, endorsing upscale watches and opening sports bars and strip clubs. The only thing that hurts his image as the "ultimate rap mogul" is that he completely forgets to record any rap music.

verything collapses on Carl. His albums collect dust in discount bins. His merchandising deals are nixed. His embittered fan base calls him a sellout. Even "Weird Al" Yankovic starts ducking his phone calls.

ung Carl's meteoric rap career is over, but he had a phenomenally long run for a hip hop artist: almost ten months. While his star was shining brightly, he made over $30 million. After his record company, music publisher, agent, manager, lawyers and handlers take fair shares, Carl is left with a complimentary promotopy of his first record (minus the plastic CD case).

arl refuses to give up. While filming an ill-timed video response to Rihanna's year-old "Umbrella" single, tragedy strikes. Carl impales himself on a beach umbrella, which then repeatedly opens and closes inside his sternum. "Yung" Carl Pringle was 22 years old. Not to imply that rap music fans are fickle, but after his death is announced, Google hits for Carl's name soar to almost a hundred.

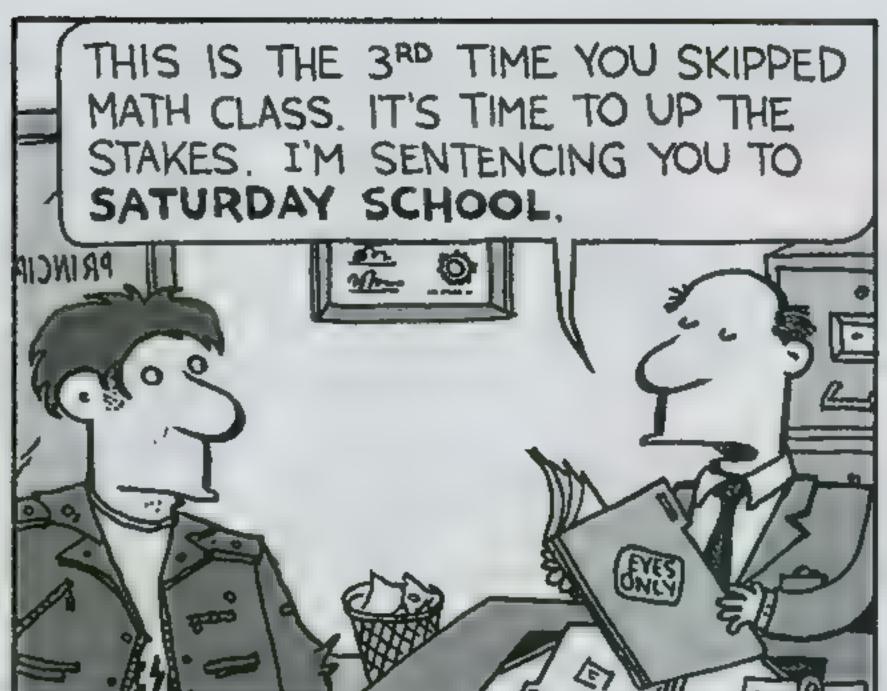

week later, Carl appears in a tribute graffiti mural of fallen rap heroes, but his face is almost entirely blocked out by Biggie's ass.

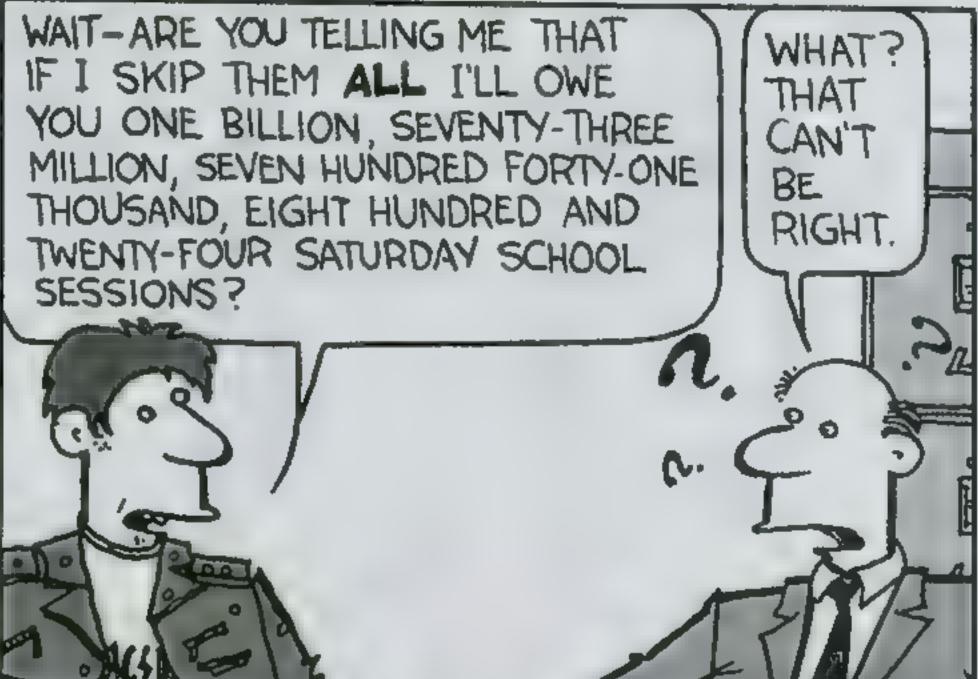

JUST DO THE MATH! 2 TO THE 30TH POWER EQUALS ONE BILLION, SEVENTY-THREE MILLION, SEVEN HUNDRED FORTY-ONE THOUSAND, EIGHT HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FOUR, WHICH WE'D NORMALLY DIVIDE BY 52—EXCEPT THAT THERE ARE ONLY 30 SATURDAY SCHOOL SESSIONS IN A YEAR.

YOU MIGHT WANT TO USE A CALCULATOR - I'LL BE BACK TO CHECK YOUR MATH NEXT WEEK.

When a cataclysmic force merges conquerors from two universes, conflict is inevitable.

Kombat forces friends to fight, worlds to collide and unlikely alliances to be forged.

- · Choose your kombatant
 - Utilize signature attacks
 - Experience all-new fighting mechanics
 - · Immerse yourself in the single player mode
 - Fight in all new arenas
 - Take the battle online
 - Developed with top writing talent

Choose your way in to win: Text DC NATION to 43892 or enter online at dcsweeps.com

ONE GRAND PRIZE WINNER WILL RECEIVE:

- Original piece of custom comic book artwork
 - One-year subscription to choice of three DC Comics titles
 - Absolute edition of Bauman: The Long Halloween
 - MK vs. Dt Universe Kollector's Edition videogame

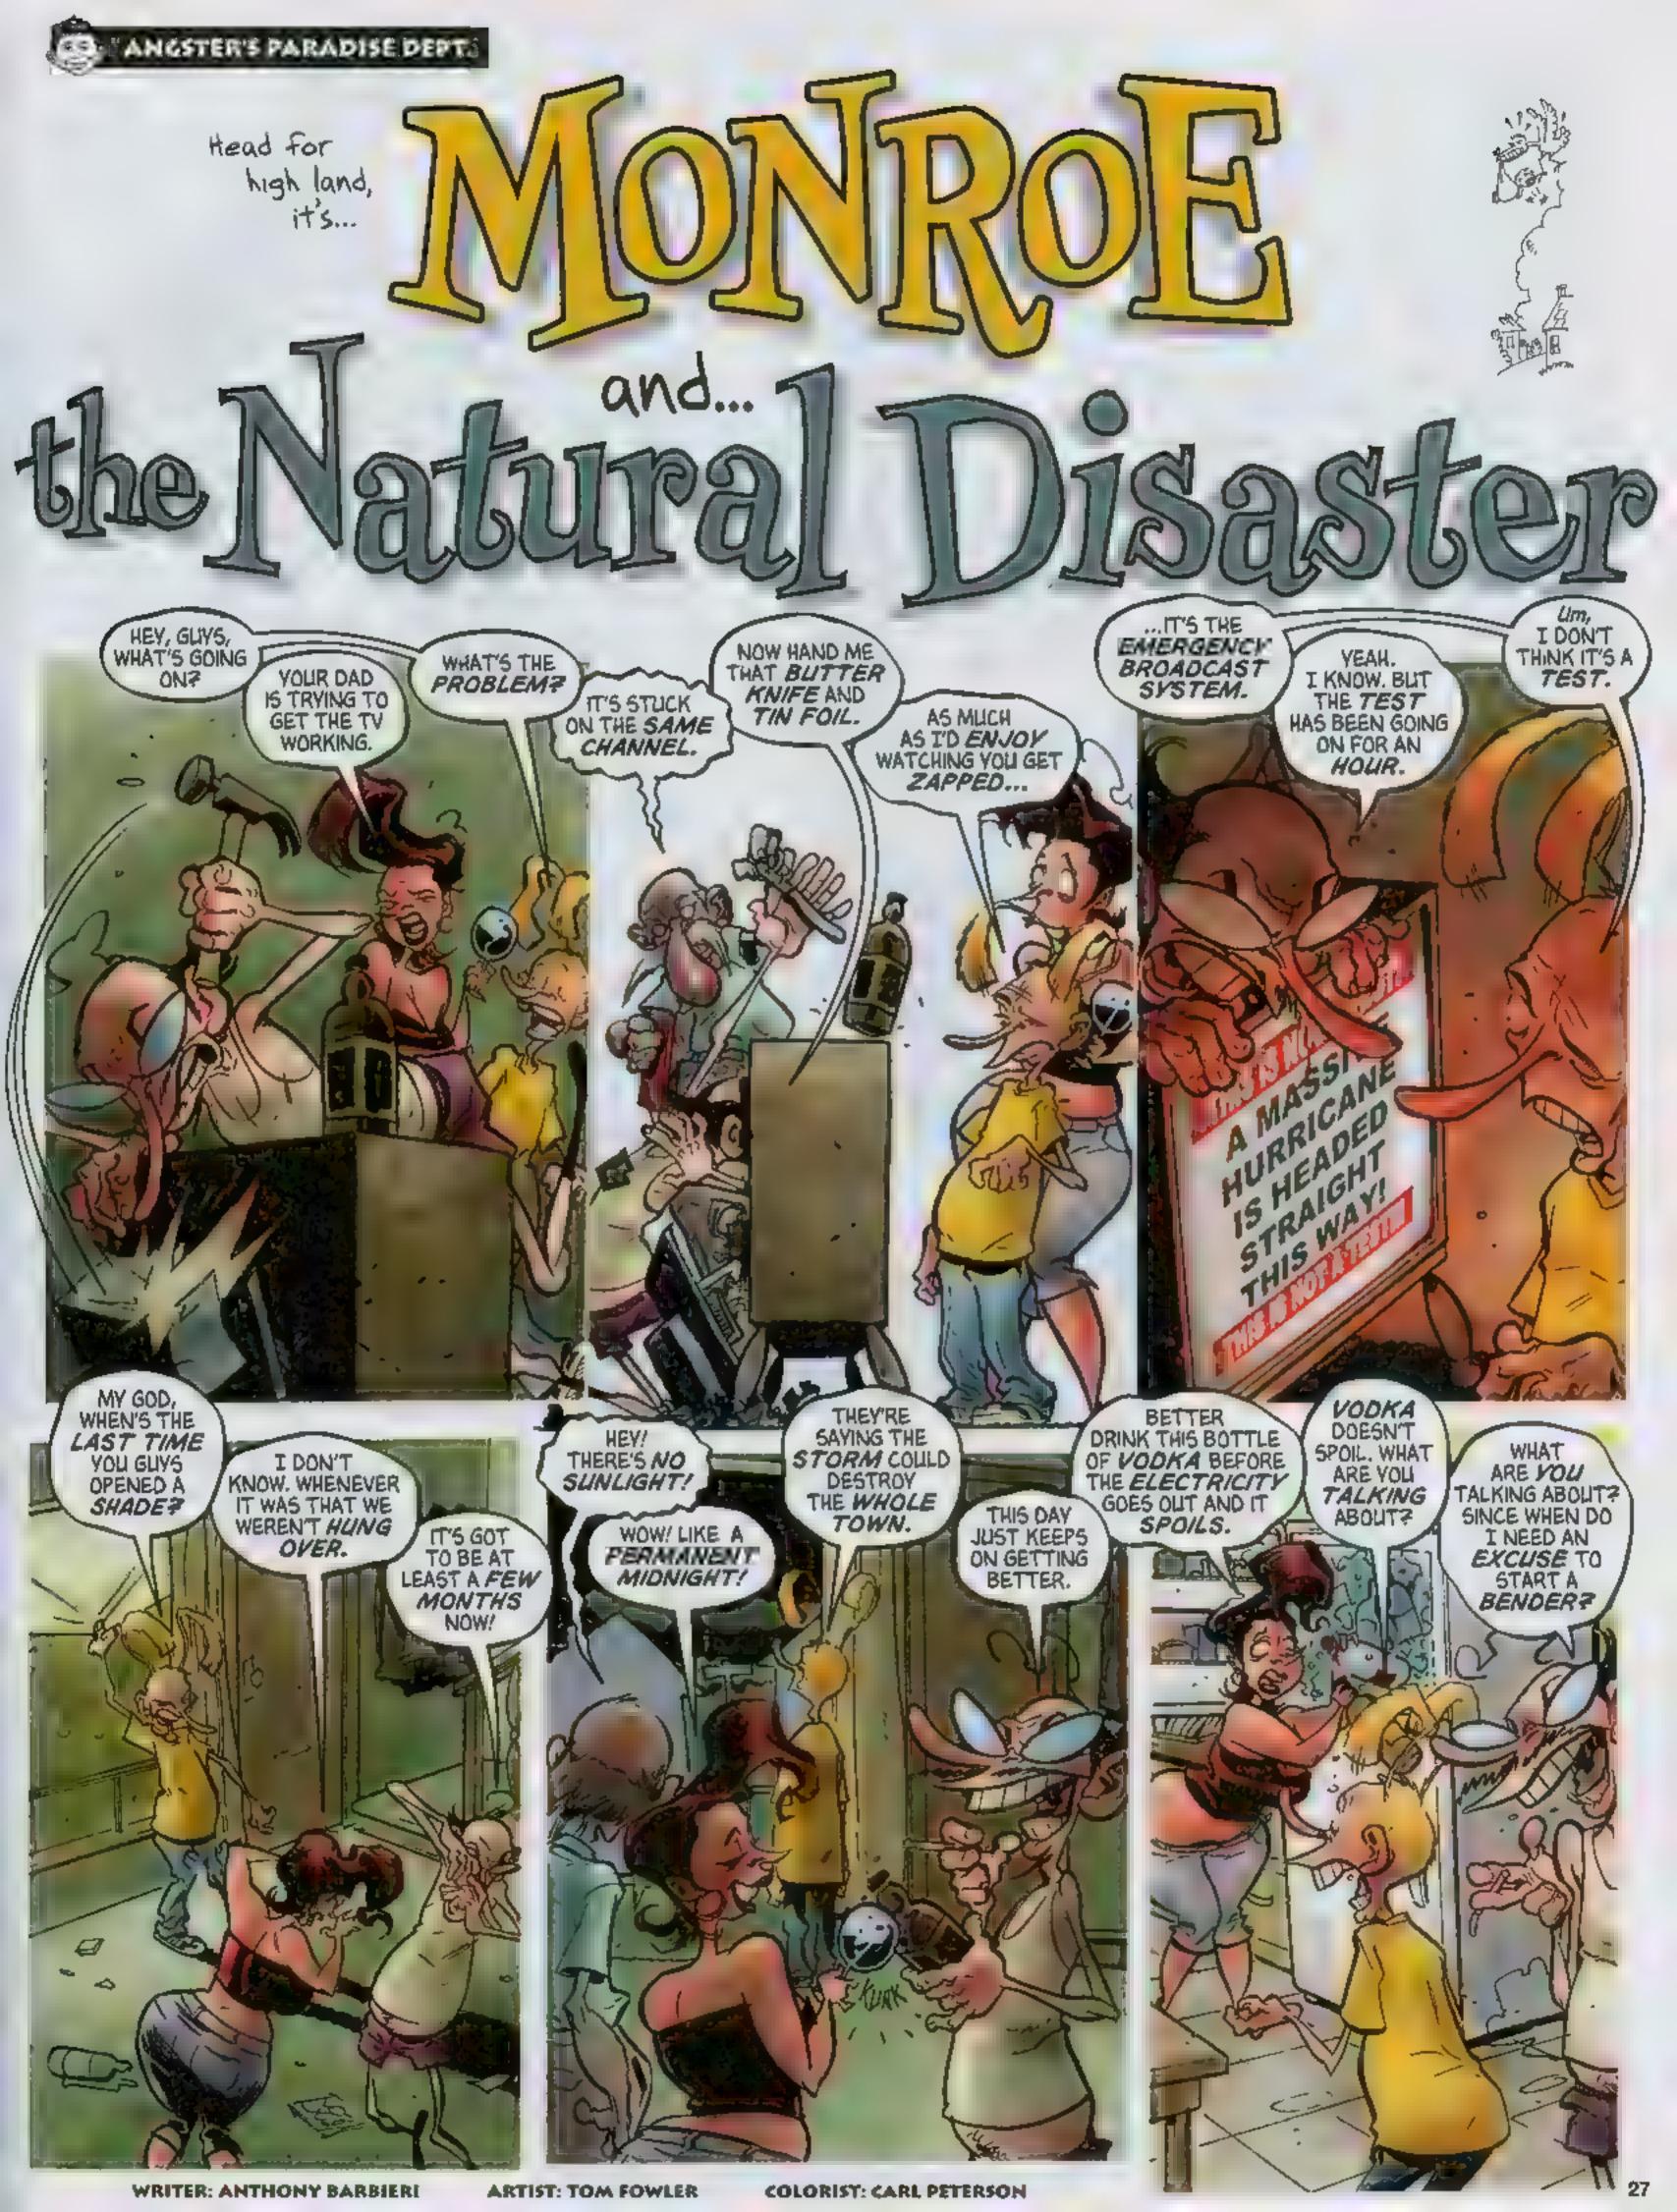

FIVE 15T PRIZE WINNERS

- TEN 2ND PRIZE WINNERS
 - FIFTEEN 3RD PRIZE WINNERS

See official rules for details and prize descriptions:

NO PURCHASE DEPAYMENT OF AN ACTUE SAME AND AN ACTUE SAME OF THE PARTY OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF THE

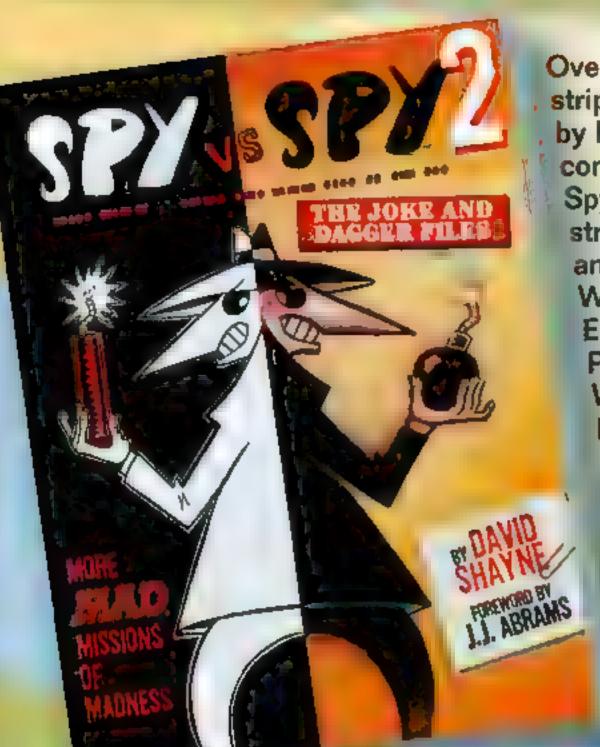

The responsible present the mile openior. Described 20 Statement Interunder subscription to private to Company of the content of the Mile of the Marrier Bros. Entertainment Inc. Warner Bros. Advanced Digital Services Inc. The Mile of the Marrier Bros. Girectors and agents and the immediate family premium and purely of the Mile of the Mile

MILLIONS OF TREES GAVE THEIR LIVES FOR THESE BOOKS.

DON'T LET THEIR DEATHS BE IN VAIN!

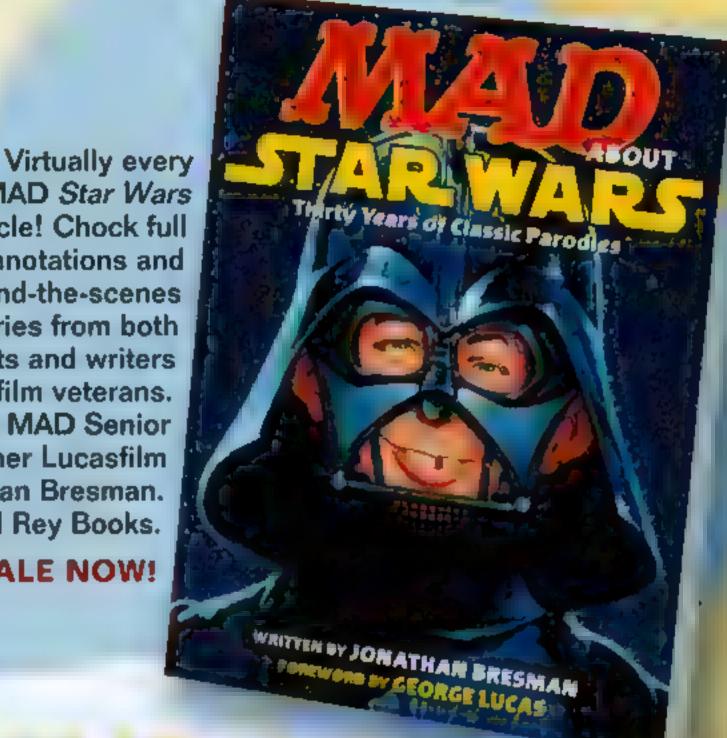

Over 200 Spy Vs. Spy strips, many in full color, by Peter Kuper! Plus a complete collection of rare Spy Vs. Spy newspaper strips, Spy Vs. Spy Jr., and much, much more! Written by former MAD Editor David Shayne. Published by

> ON SALE NOW!

MAD Star Wars Watson-Guptill article! Chock full Publications. of annotations and behind-the-scenes memories from both MAD artists and writers and Lucasfilm veterans. Written by MAD Senior Editor and former Lucasfilm lackey Jonathan Bresman. Published by Del Rey Books.

ON SALE NOW!

Savor the final days of a failed presidency by reading this hard-hitting satiric collection of articles on George W. Bush — the worst President since...well...Clinton! A MAD Book.

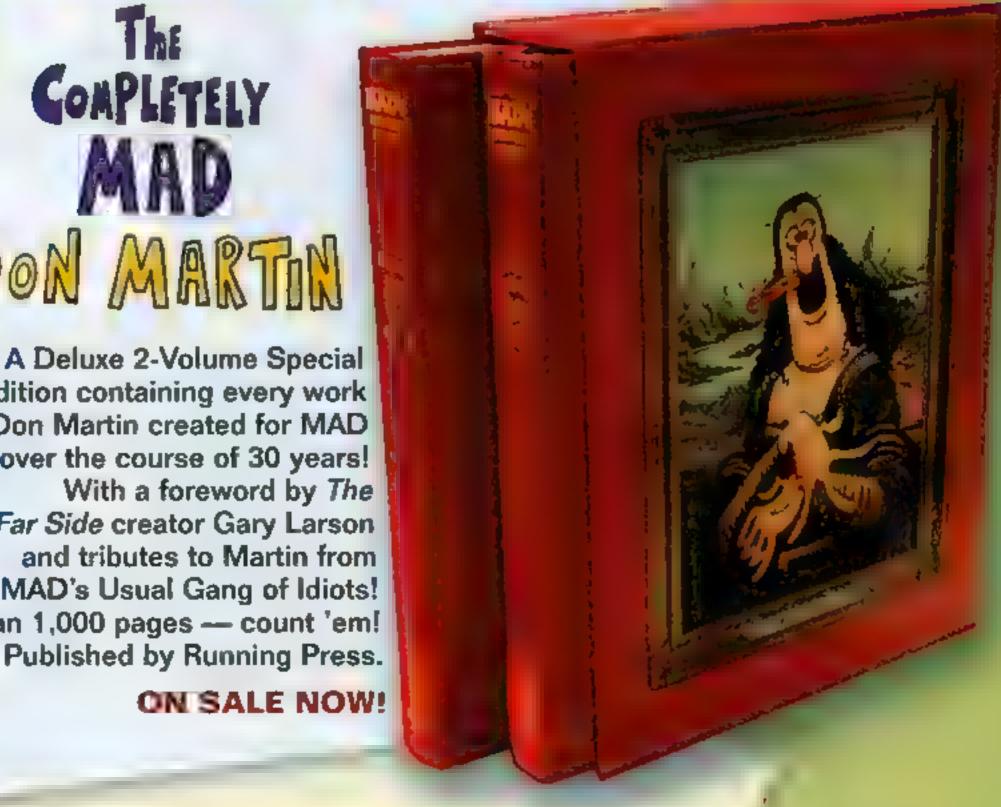

CREATEST ARTISTS

The COMPLETELY

MAD DON MARTIN

A Deluxe 2-Volume Special Edition containing every work Don Martin created for MAD over the course of 30 years! With a foreword by The Far Side creator Gary Larson and tributes to Martin from MAD's Usual Gang of Idiots! More than 1,000 pages — count 'em!

ON SALE NOW!

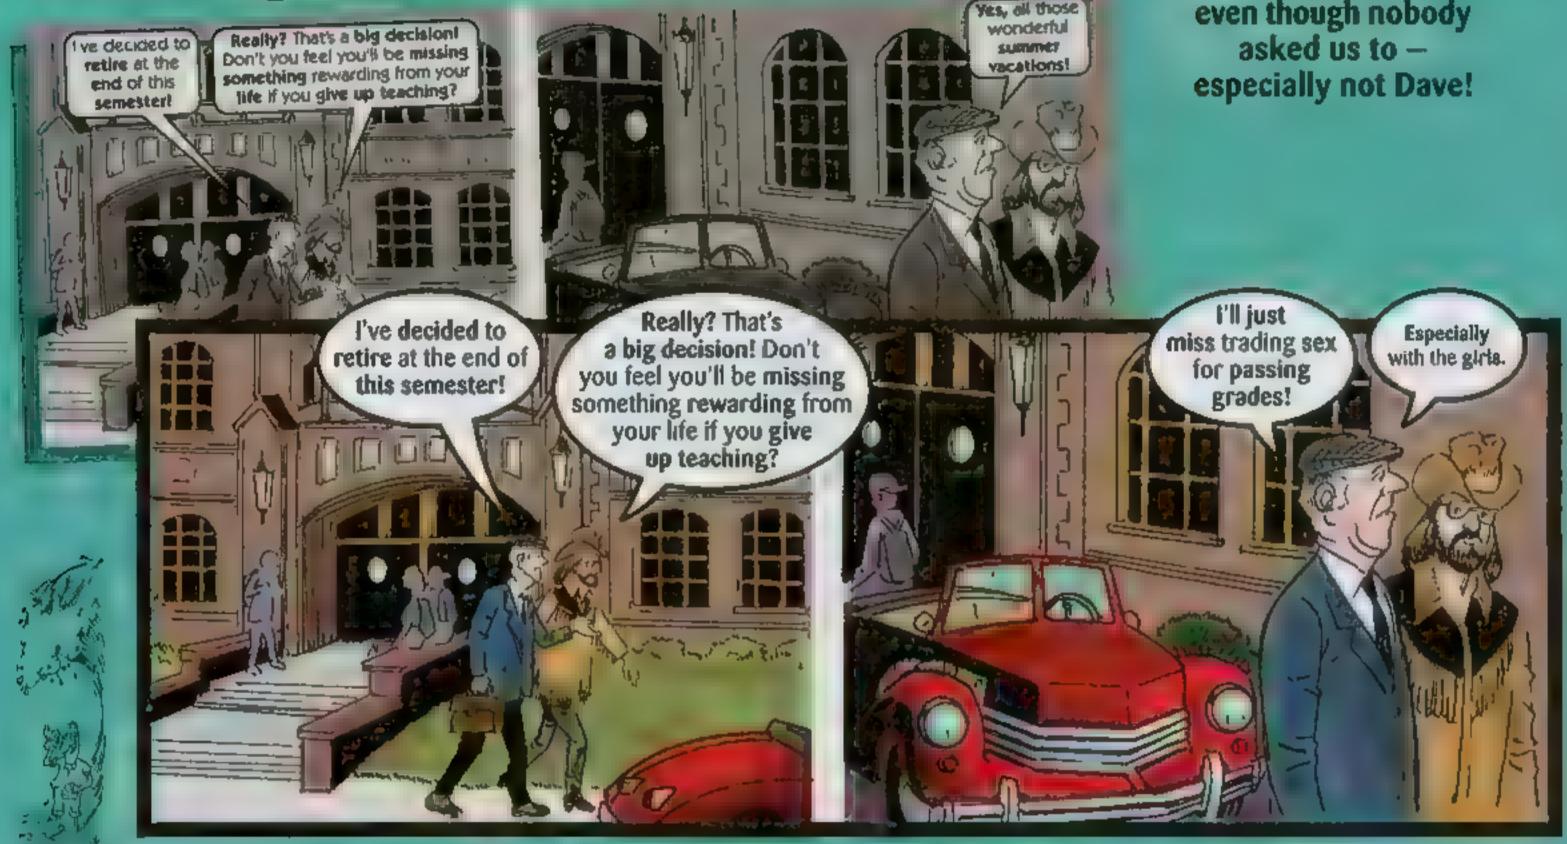

MAD and air related characters and indicia are trademarks of and © 2007 E.C. Publications, Inc. All Rights Reserved

THE WARKER SIDE OF THE GHIER SID

We tamper with classic Dave Berg strips, even though nobody asked us to -

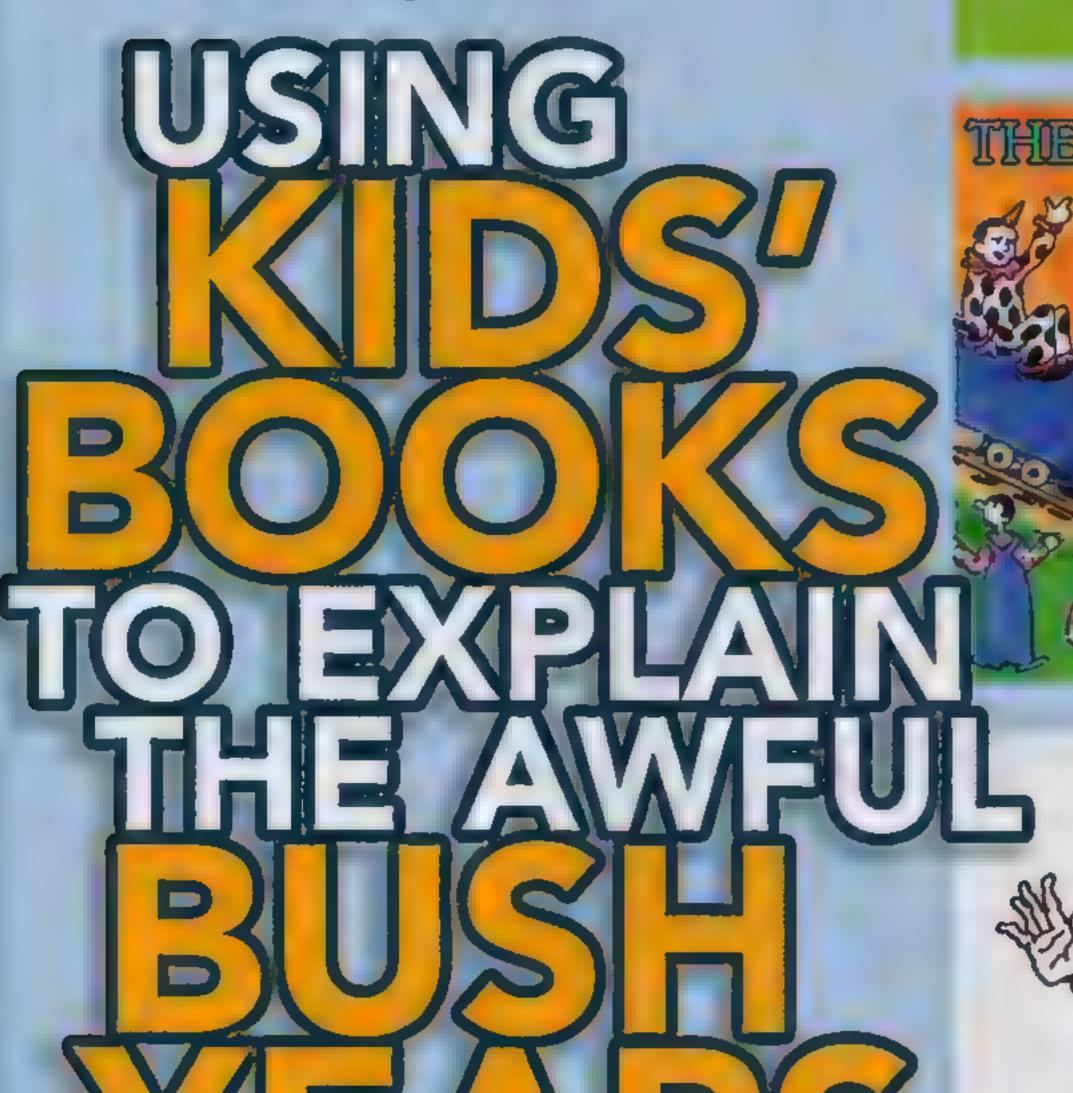

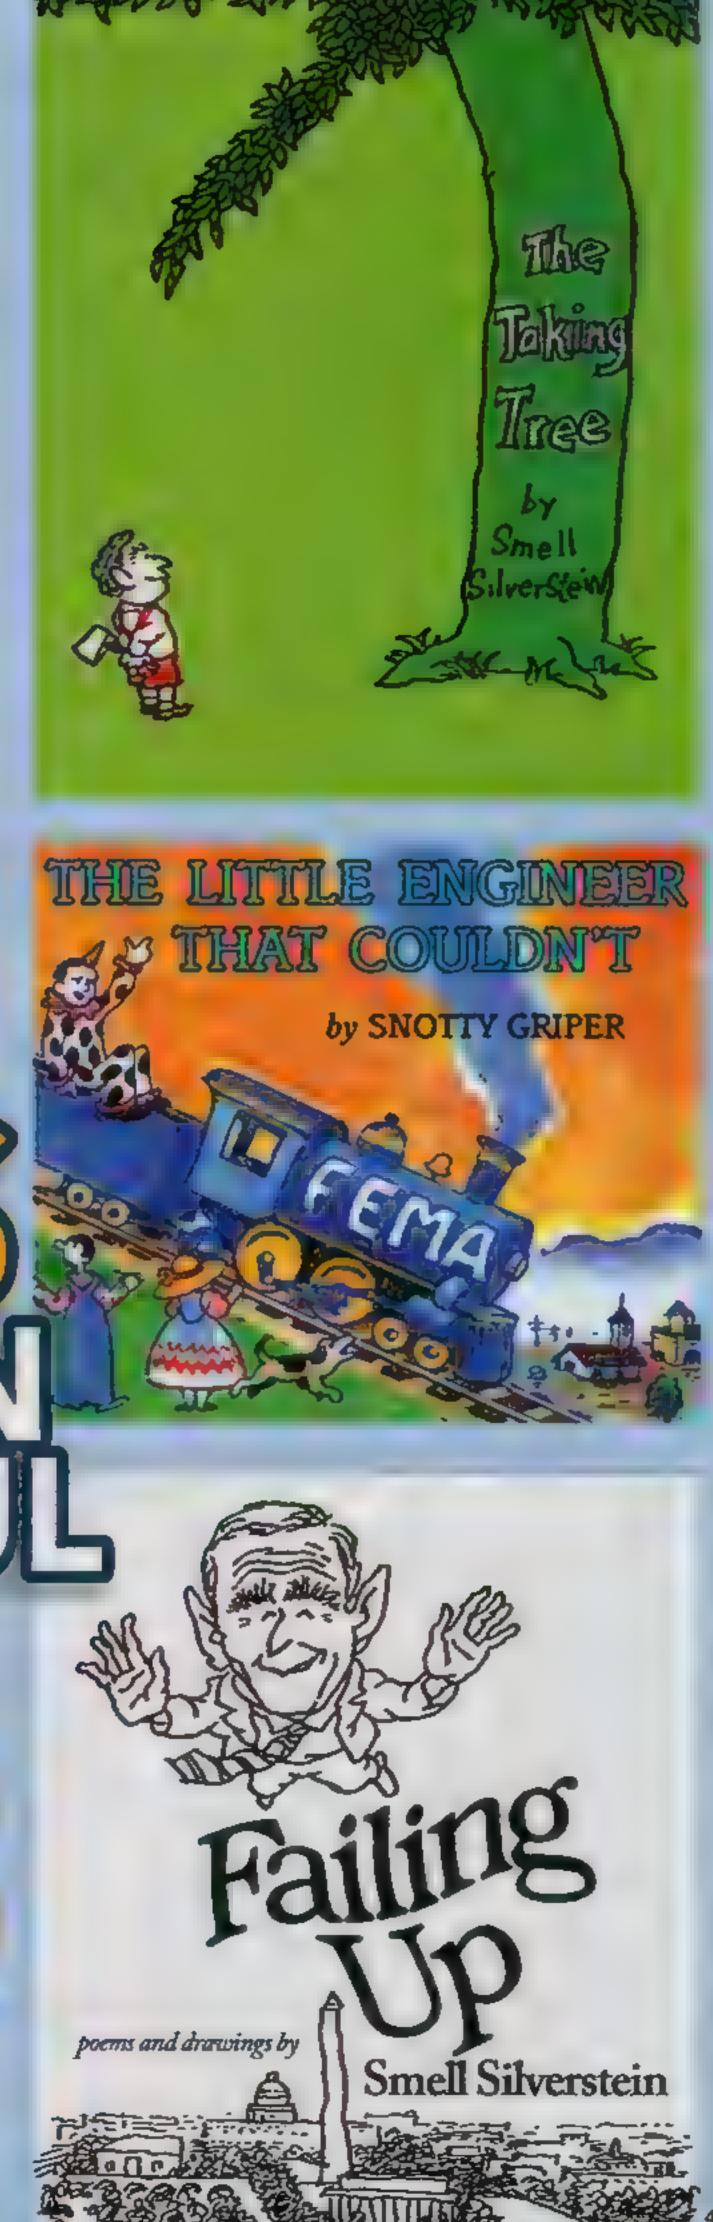

AND A CHILD SHALL READ THEM DEPT.

The past eight years under the Bush administration have been a smorgasbord of scandal, lies, greed, torture, war and improper grammar. Any sane parent would want to shield their children from the ugly events that have unfolded, (especially if they voted for Bush). At the very least, however, children need a sense of history to prevent such disasters from happening again. But how do you present this dark history in such a way that it doesn't turn kids suicidal? Simple. If you filter it through kiddie lit, even the debacle that was the Bush presidency becomes appropriate for all ages! Here's MAD's guide to...

WRITER: DAVID SHAYNE

ARTIST: GARY HALLGREN

The Taking Tree by Smell Silverstein

Once there was a tree... and she loved a little boy named George.

"Tree," George said one day.

"We're going to war.

So I need money.

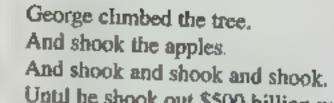

A lot of money."

"I don't have any money,"

said the Tree.

"Why don't you climb my branches and take some apples?

You can sell those for money and you will be at war and you will be happy."

Until he shook out $500 billion worth of apples.

"Wars are expensive!" said the Tree.
"Don't worry," said George.

"Once the Iraqis start pumping oil, the war will pay for itself.

And I can give you your apples back."

So the Tree was happy.

A lintle "Tree,"
"We've said Ge "And venhand technic "I only Tree.
"Yes, make said Go chair He he cutte in C

A little later, George came back.
"Tree," he said.

"We've got enemy combatants," said George.

"And we need to employ enhanced interrogation techniques."

"I only have branches," said the

"Yes, and your branches would make excellent waterboards," said George.

So George got to work with his chainsaw

He had had a lot of practice cutting wood on his vacations in Crawford.

And the Tree was happy

George came back again

"Come, George. Come climb my trunk," the Tree said.

"Tree, there's no time for that," George said.

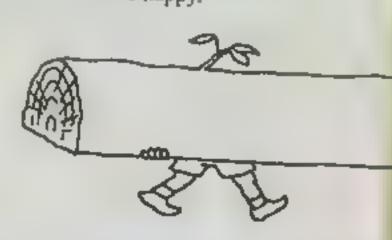

"I've got 4,000 dead soldiers."
We need to make coffins."

"My trunk would make fine coffins," said the Tree.

So George cut down the Tree's trunk.

And even though she was sad for all the dead soldiers, the Tree was happy.

George came back again.

"Turns out we were wrong about the Iraqi oil paying for the war," he said.

"I am sorry," said the Tree.

"You took my apples.

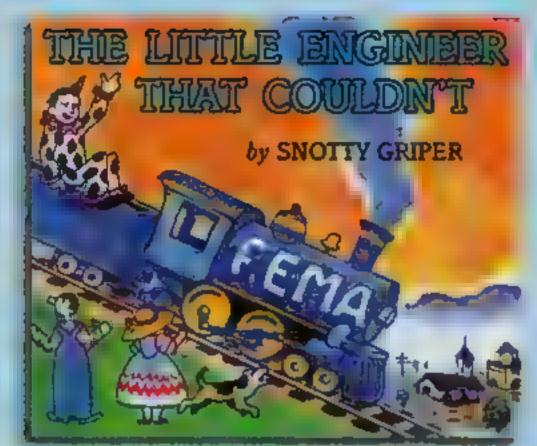

You took my branches.

You took my branches.
You took my trunk.
I have nothing left to give.
All that's left is a stump."
"That's okay," said George.

"We're gonna drill under you for oil!"

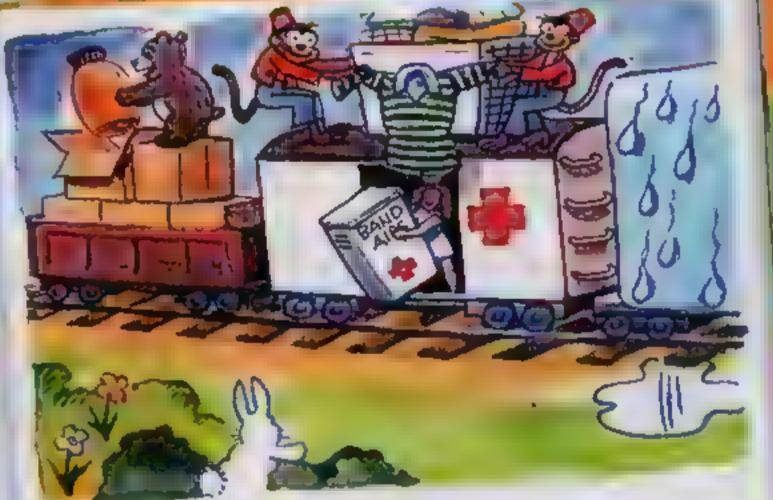

The Little Engineer That Couldn't by Snotty Griper

Ding-dong, ding-dong. The little train sat on the tracks, ringing her bell. She was a happy little train, filled with all kinds of useful goodies. Her name was FEMA, and she was owned by a man named George.

FEMA was full of ice and water, food and first aid supplies, baby formula and clothes and even portable trailers — everything a disaster victim could ever want.

FEMA needed an engineer, so George asked a clown named Brownie if he thought he could do the job. Brownie said, "I think I can. I think I can. I think I can."

One day, New Orleans found out they were going to be hit by Hurricane Katrina. "Oh please, Brownie. Won't you drive FEMA to help us evacuate?" they cried.

So George asked Brownie if he could drive the train and help them evacuate. Brownie said, "I think I can. I think I can."

But Brownie didn't know how to drive the train, in fact he'd never ever driven a train at all. When Brownie finally made it to New Orleans, it was too late! The city was destroyed. It was a disaster. Even the ice had melted.

George then asked Brownie if he could take control of the situation and distribute supplies. Brownie said, "I think I can. I think I can."

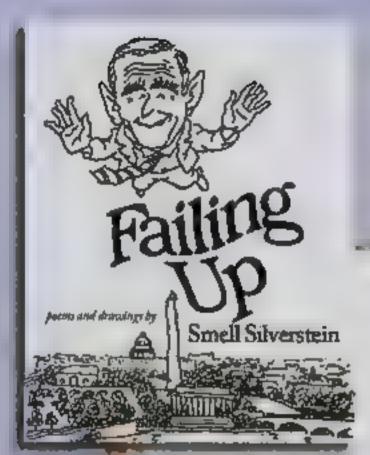

But Brownie didn't bring nearly enough supplies and couldn't distribute them quickly enough. Things were actually getting worse People were dying.

It was right around this time that George said, "Heck of a job, Brownie. Heck of a job, Brownie."

And that's when New Orleans learned that thinking you can do something and actually being able to do it are two very different things.

Failing Up by Smell Silverstein

FAILING UP

When I screw up
Or make a mess
It has no effect
On my success.
I just get more
The worse I do.

Don't you wish Life's like that for YOU?

THE 2000 ELECTION

When your popular vote comes up a little short It's nice to get an assist from the Supreme Court.

IS OUR CHILDREN LEARNING?

At Andover Prep, there was no time for reading — George was too busy with his cheerleading.

And all he could do in class was fail

But still, his dad got him into Yale.

While at that school, he did not work at all.

He just got drunk and played baseball.

And that's pretty much how his young life was spent And somehow this jerk became President?

Also Available:

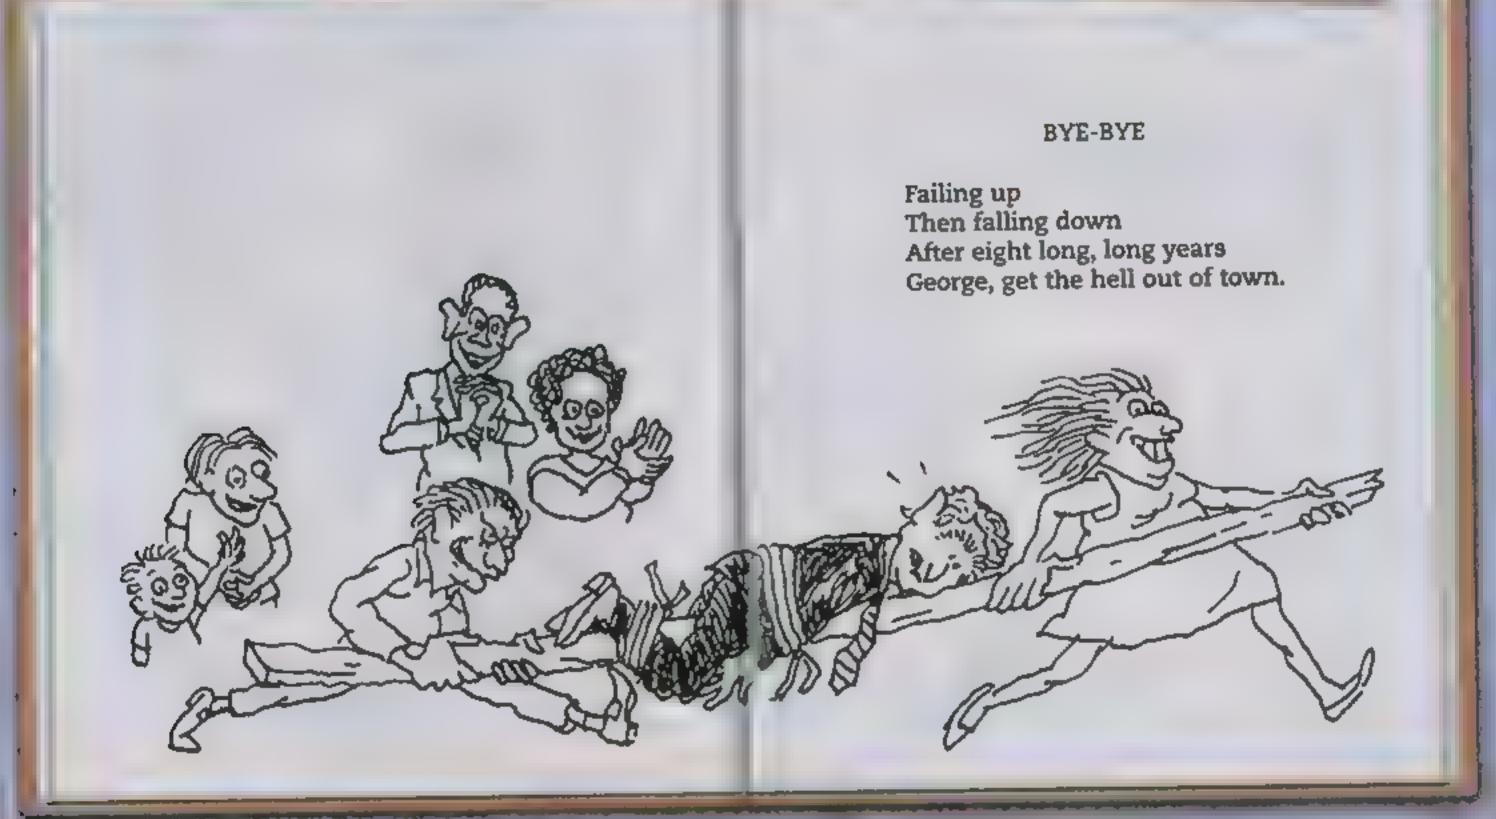

Little Georgie never went to 'Nam to serve He hid down in 'Bama, safe in the Reserve. And you don't need to be a genius to correctly observe

That it takes a heck of a lot of nerve
For him to send kids to Iraq with such verve.

THE LOWLIGHTS (GACK!)

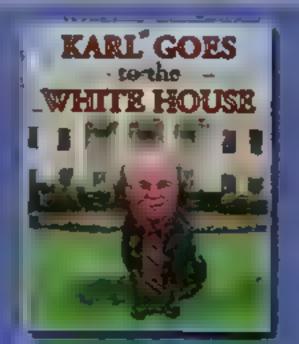

The 9-11 attack The War in Iraq Sending soldiers into battle With no armor for flak, The Patriot Act Detainees on the rack Not having the balls To give Rumsfeld the sack No diplomatic tact The economy out of whack A pretzel got stuck In his intestinal tract Ignoring scientific fact The country on the wrong track And still we re-elected this hack? We must be on crack!

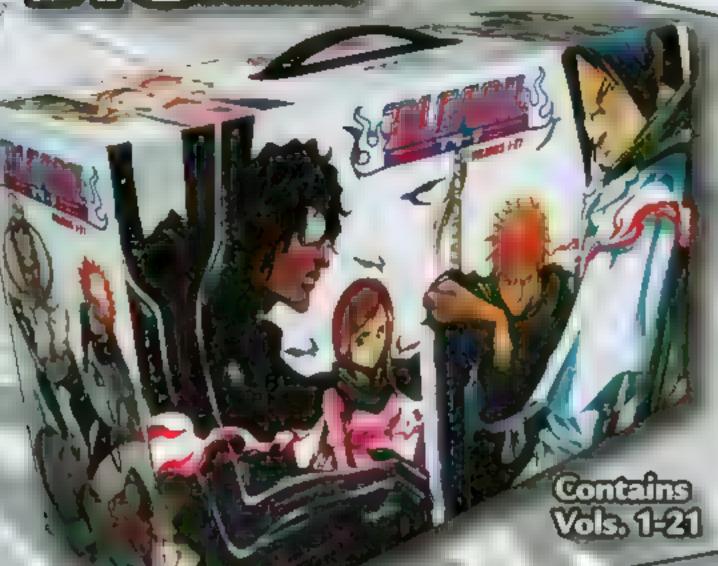

The ultimate gifts

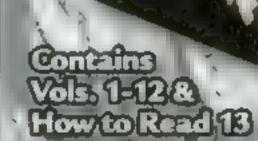

For the ultimate fan! WITH

المعودة الأوالوال حاليال

B G MANGA BOX SETS

Hardcover with Alernate Jacket Art and Extra Content

Volumes in

One Giant

Premium

Edition

BIG

Complete your wishlist ats

www.VIZ.com/GoBig

WHAT'S QUICKLY BECOMING
THE HOTTEST DESTINATION FOR MANY TEENAGERS?

HERE WE GO WITH ANOTHER RIDICULOUS

There's plenty of hip places for teenagers to hang out these days. There is, however, one in particular that is the mother of all hangouts. To find out what location always delivers, fold page in as shown.

FOLD PAGE OVER LEFT

FOLD BACK SO THAT "A" MEETS "B"

THE TEENAGER'S MAJOR PASSION IS PURSUIT OF MATERIALISTIC THINGS BUT SOME FIND OPPORTUNITY IN ANOTHER PURSUIT WITH A STARTLING REWARD.

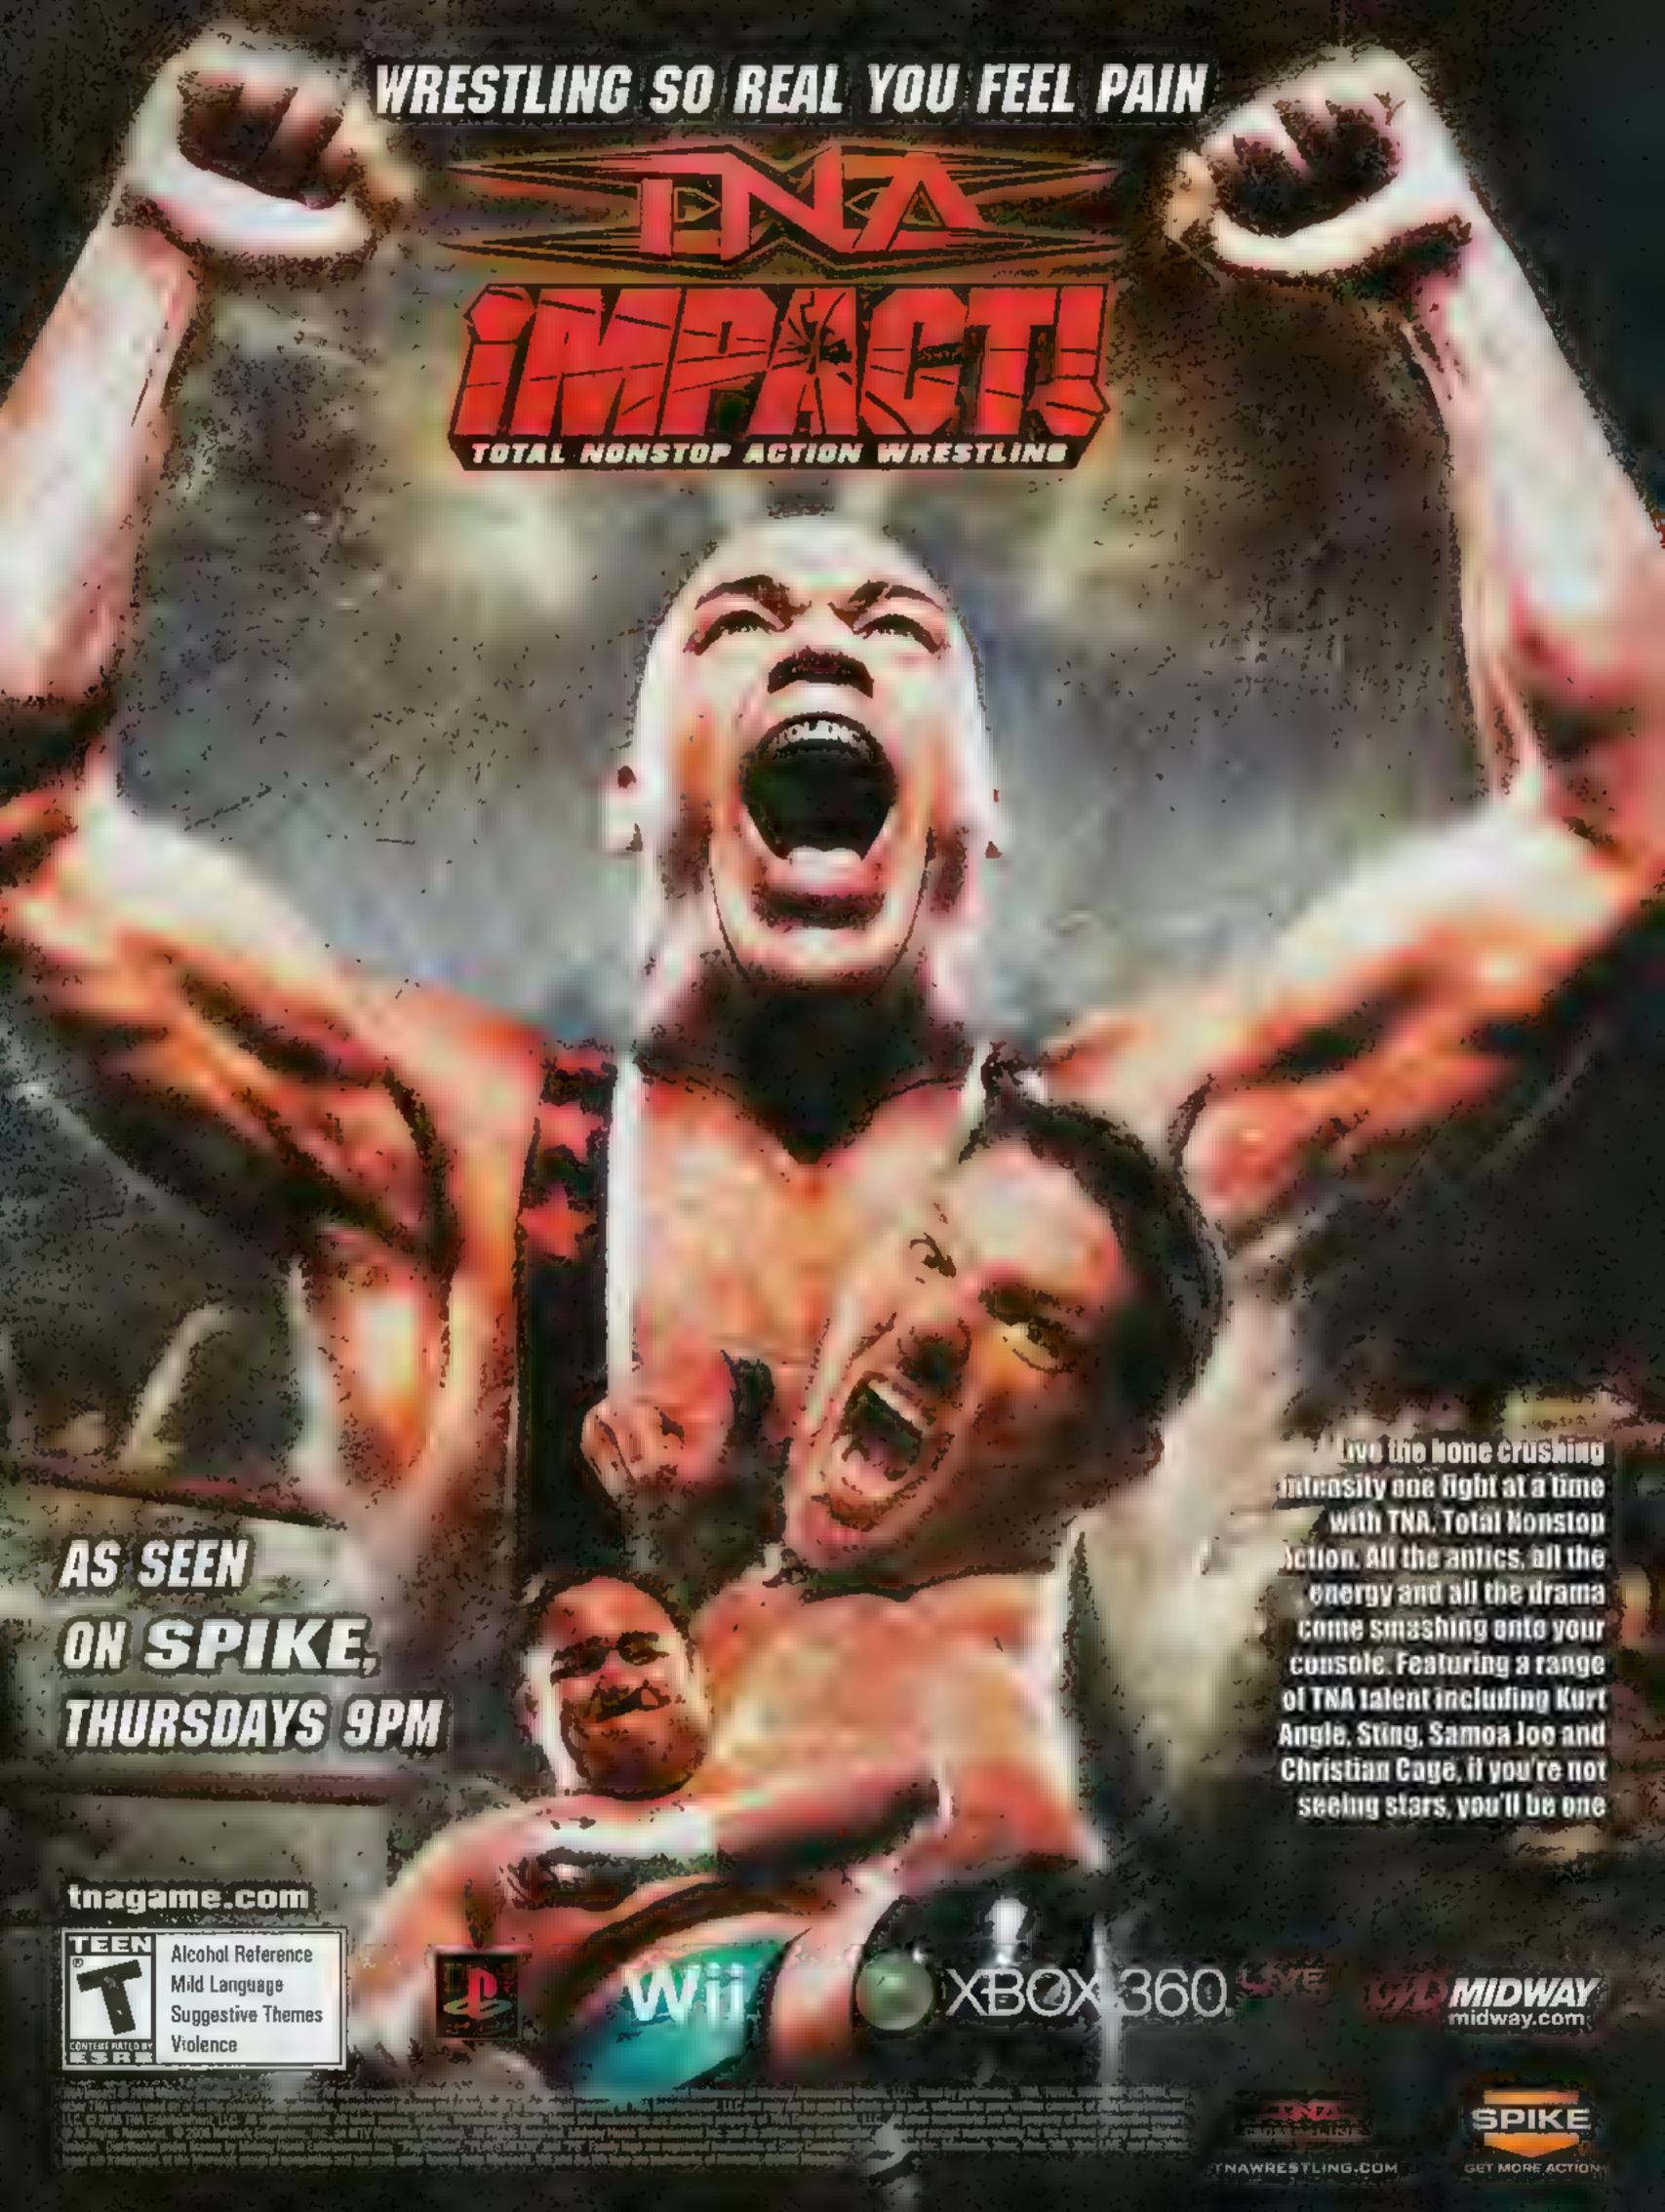

WHAT'S QUICKLY
BECOMING
THE HOTTEST DESTINATION FOR MANY TEENAGERS?

MATERNITY WARD

READER ALERT I

Before Snappy Answers to Stupid Questions and becoming MAD's Fold-in king, Al Jaffee created a syndicated strip called Tall Tales. Now collected for the first time, this book contains the best ones from over 2,200 strips. Those lucky readers who had their letters printed will get a copy of Tall Tales courtesy of our friends at Abrams Books.

GOING DOG WILD

A girl in my-class has a red Labrador Retriever and last year he lost a tooth by biting a fake bone. She has read MAD a couple of times. I suggested a new name to her, Alfred E. Neuman, but she just stood there and stared at me. Whenever I read MAD in class now, she cries because her dog died. Once I taped a picture of Alfred to a binder and she went home early. You have to agree that Alfred E. Neuman is a good dog name, right?

Nathaniel Ritter, Alberta, Canada

Ritter Bug — Yeah, Alfred E. Neuman is a good name, but if you named your dog that, no self-respecting pooch would ever come when you called him! ---Ed.

COMIC STRIPPED

Cartoonist Bill Bramhall used MAD's own idiot mascot, Alfred E. Neuman, in a recent editorial for the New York Daily News. HA, HA, HA...that's hilarious! No, seriously, the entire world is screwed!

MAKE A DUMB WISH FOUNDATION™

For the past three years, while other boys our age spent their Saturdays playing sports or hanging out with girls, we have spent our time wisely sitting in the living room reading MAD. However, last week something horrible happened. We discovered that our friend, Ari, had gone to the dark side. He stopped reading MAD! He has refused to listen to reason and refuses to pick up another MAD ever again. Please print our letter so he'll return to the mag we know he loves! And do it as quickly as possible. With every passing day he's looking less and less like a MAD reader and more like a handsome young man His acne and gut have almost disappeared. His grades have skyrocketed and girls and boys deemed "popular" and "cool" and all that nonsense, have invited him to parties. How crazy is that? MAD readers should never associate themselves with "cool" people and attend their ridiculous parties. Who needs parties when you have MAD and WO.W (World of Warcraft) at home? So our dumb wish for this glorious MAKE A DUMB WISH FOUNDATION™ is for you to please, please print our letter before it's too late and he's lost forever

Zachary Weiner and Josh Kerdell, New York, NY

The Grass is Always Weiner and Kerdell and Whey — Much like Nathaniel Ritter's friend's dog, Ari is in a better place now. —Ed.

WEDDED DISS

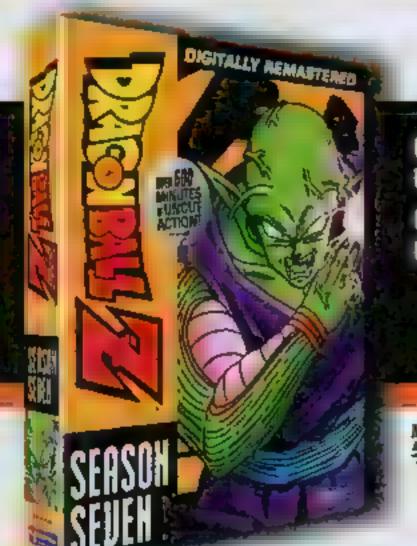

My grandparents, Billy and Roberta Smith, just celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary and I, the Reverend Billy Homby, performed their re-wedding ceremony for them on New Smyma Beach. MAD magazine has been a part of my whole family's life for the past 50 years, so I included MAD in the wedding ceremony. I wanted to share the pictures with you. Grandma and Grandpa Smith wanted to share a story with you. In 1959, Grandpa Smith brought home a MAD for Grandma she had never read it before and in turn was hooked and loved it and we all continue to read it today.

Reverend Billy Hornby, New Smyrna Beach, FL

Toot Your Own Hornby — Wowl Your grandmother has been hooked on MAD for almost 50 years? That's incredible! More incredible still is that it is only the third biggest mistake your grandmother has made in her life. The first one was marrying your obviously deranged grandfather and the second one was allowing her goofball grandson to perform the re-marriage ceremony! —Ed.

JESAL LELLING BY ALL

AVAILABLE NOV 11TH 2008

- 25 ACTION PACKED UNCUT EPISODES ON & DISCS
- INCLUDES THE ENTIRE GREAT SAIYAMAN AND WORLD TOURNAMENT GAMES SAGAS
- NEWLY REVISED ENGLISH DIALOGUE WITH JAPANESE AUDIO
- MARATHON PLAY SPECIAL FEATURES

AVAILANT III

"Dragon Ball GT is a fun ride"

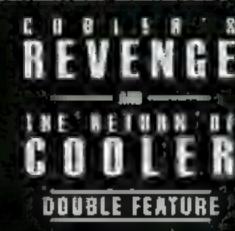

DRAGON BALL CT SEC. 97 2008 SEASON ONE DIGITALLY REMASTERED

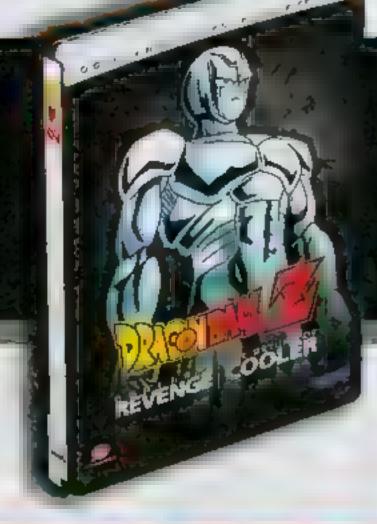

INCLUDES TWO UNCUT MOVIES
IN ONE SET ON DVD

STUNNING 5.1 SURROUND SOUND WITH ORIGINAL JAPANESE AUDIO

DIGITALLY REMASTERED FROM THE ORIGINAL 35MM FILM COLLECTIBLE METAL TIN find out more at www.dragonballz.com

THE FUNDALINI PAG

SIGNS YOUR DAD LOVES FOOTBALL MORE THAN YOUR FAMILY

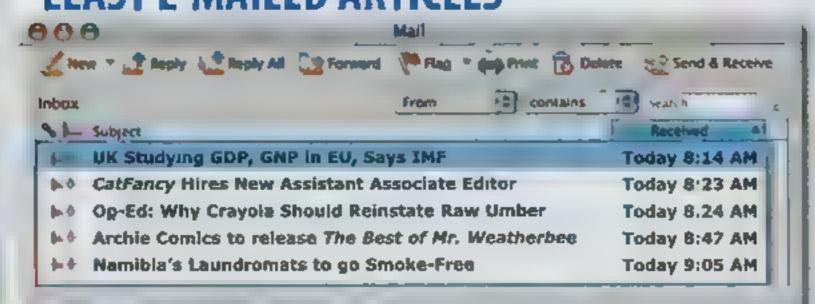

- He opted to catch the fourth quarter of a 45-17 Jets/Titans blowout instead of the birth of your little sister.
- Even for family photos, he refuses to take off the cheesehead.
- He's been dropping hints that, when the time comes, his will is going to be heavily weighted towards Ben Roethlisberger.
- In the last three years, he's moved the family from Minnesota to Oakland to New England, yet shakily insists it has nothing to do with Randy Moss.
- He always complains it's "too cold" to build a snowman with you — yet goes to every Bears home game in nothing but facepaint and a thong.

LEAST E-MAILED ARTICLES

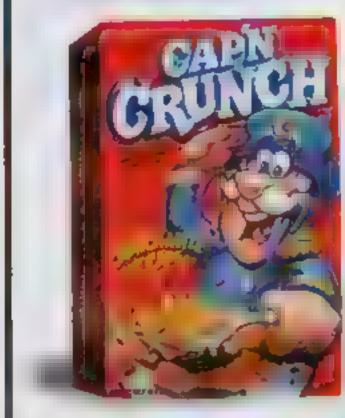

There was...

Before there was...

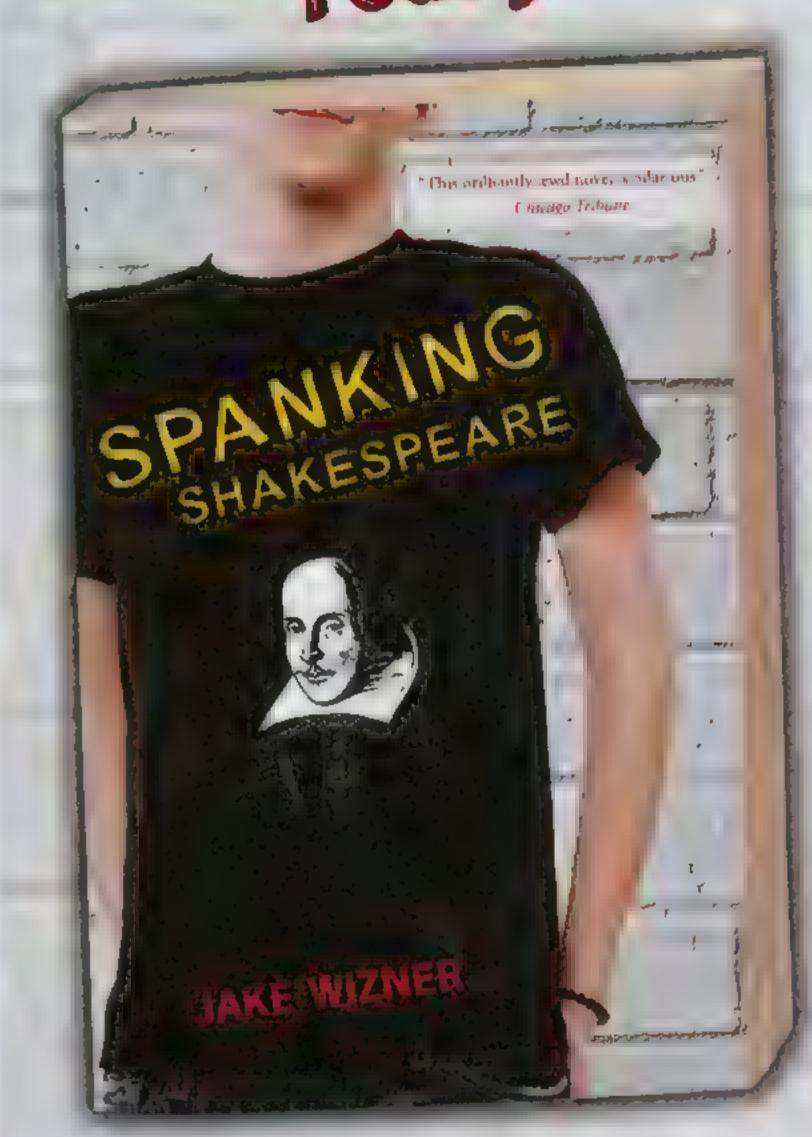

SPANKED SPANKED SHAKESPEARE Today?

One popularity-challenged boy's journey to self-respect and sexual fulfillment.

For ceel stuff, visit www.spankingshakespeare.com.

RUMINATIONS WITH A YIEW DEPT

It is truly amazing that Deal or No Deal has become such a hit: it combines all the fun of statistical probability analysis with all the excitement of numbered luggage. And no one knows the tedium of America's new favorite game show quite like the 26 Deal or No Deal models, who on an exciting day get to both smile and open up a briefcase. With so little to do up there, those models' minds must wander a lot. That's why we want to know.

Making us all wear the exact same dress is one thing, but the exact same thong? Now the producers are just screwing with us!

get the case with the sticky latch

Cramp! Cramp! Jesus Christ. @!#! Cramp!

DEAL HODEAL MUIS

second row...

believe this counts towards my court mandated community service!

Must. Resist trees to Pick, Nose.

To think mom said all my binging and purging would never pay off!

sixteen! Is it so hard to say, "Number sixteen! want to open number sixteen!" Oh come on,

I'm going to be here forever! wish My feet are were killing me!

all sure hope

my tob doesn't get outsourced to India.

Tee hee! Little do they know I switched with #6 and I'm just holding her briefcase upside-down!

Howie's soul natch reminds me - I need to make a waxing appointment!

Silicone... silicone... real... saline...real... number 15. silicone. Ok, now the family

Should I tell #18 that the mole on the back of her neck has changed colors since the season started? Hmmm...what to do. what to do?

> Heh heh heh...silen but deadly

Thank God for this gig I'll never have to hear from Client no. 9 again!

for acting classes paid off! Look at me! I'm on the top step!

Let's see, on my résumé I won't say Deal or No Deal model -I'll say Financial Valise Manager!

I haven't lined up with this many girls since that wet t-shirt contest in Tijuana!

Who was it that sang "Just Like Heaven"? Was it The Cure? It sounds too happy to be The Cure. Maybe it was The Pet Shop Boys...No, I think it was The Cure.

I hate these dresses! Yesterday while taking a shower I found sequins in places there should never be sequins!

The expected value of your suitcase is the sum of the values of the remaining suitcases divided by the number of remaining suitcases. If the offer is greater than the expected value, take the offer. It's easy, you moron!

I wish they'd give us funny names like American Gladiators. I want to be "Modelio"!

Here I am model #4...maybe | don't have to go through with that last step in the sex change after all...

I wonder how long before this show creates demand for a new internet-porn genre called girl on girl?

Whew! Thank God for "Depends" eus was a big old Clydesdale we used mostly as a plow horse. Once in a while, we'd sell "pony" rides on him but he never liked it and would try and throw the kids or crush them up against the corral fence. He wouldn't let anyone ride him except my brother, Abner. He loved Abner.

In the town where I grew up, there were two funeral homes. One was Gilmore's, which was the fancy one. They had all sorts of high falutin' features like a sidewalk and a sign that lit up at night and blinked. And the other, a bit out of town, was Feckelman's. That was ours. We ran it out of our dining room. We tried to do the right thing and save decent folk money. Do the dead really need to have clothes on to be buried? Pa didn't think so. Do you really need an all-wooden pine box with a bottom and a top when cardboard would do? And do you really need a state license to run a funeral business? None of us believed that for a minute.

So we had the farm, the funeral parlor and the "pony" rides. But we were always getting sued by people who were trying to keep good folk like us down and the lawyer bills were piling up.

I'll never forget the summer we almost lost the farm. Pa, Abner and me were thinking how we could get some money when Zeus sauntered over and tried to crush Pa and me against the corral fence. He was always doing that. But Abner said Zeus was trying to tell us something. Then we all remembered the county fair was coming. The first prize to the winner of the steeplechase was $5,000! Just the amount we needed!

It was a long shot. Clydesdales aren't known for their speed. But it was the only chance we had, so Abner and Zeus went into training. But just a week before the big race, Zeus crushed Abner to death against the corral fence. Apparently he didn't love Abner as much as I thought.

So Pa and I came up with a new plan. Since no one else could ride Zeus but Abner, instead of burying him, we decided to duct tape him to Zeus. Considering how much lighter he'd be because of not eating in a week, Zeus would have a better chance of winning the prize money.

But on the day of the big race we discovered Zeus wanted no part of this. He got real spooked when we took Abner out of the Hefty bag and tossed him up on his back. As much as Zeus loved Abner, he didn't seem any too happy to see his old pal again. We had to stake him down while we taped Abner on. We went through sixteen rolls of duct tape that morning.

When the race started, we cut the ropes and Zeus took off like lightning. I never imagined Zeus could go that fast. It was a ten mile race through woods, across streams and over fences, fields and meadows. It was his race all of the way. When they crossed the finish line, Abner was bouncing around like a big rag doll. We should used more tape. There was no gathering in the winner's circle 'cause Zeus just kept on running.

It was days before Zeus finally showed up. He still had a lot of tape on him but no sign of Abner. We're guessing he gave Abner a proper burial off in the woods somewhere. He then came over to Pa and me and again tried to crush us into the corral fence.

Then Pa and I got the same idea: with all the dead folks we been burying, we could probably make jockeys out of them all. Heck, with enough duct tape, anybody could ride Zeus. That's what Zeus was telling us in his excitement as he kept slamming us into the corral fence.

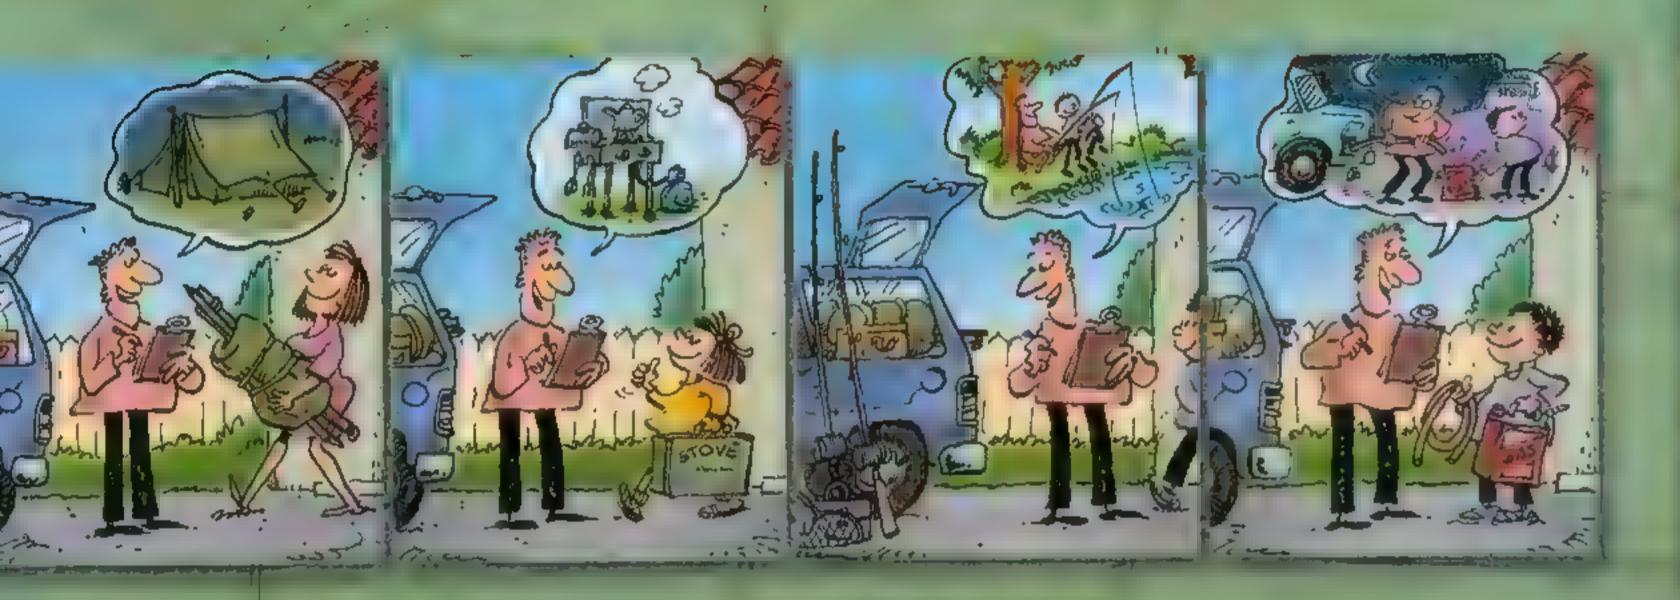

Pa went to get a race schedule and I went for the shovel and some garbage bags. "Thank you, champ!" I said to Zeus from the other side of the fence. He started kicking towards me but I knew it was just his way of saying, "You're welcome, brother of Abner. Now let's get out there and win some races. I'm ready."

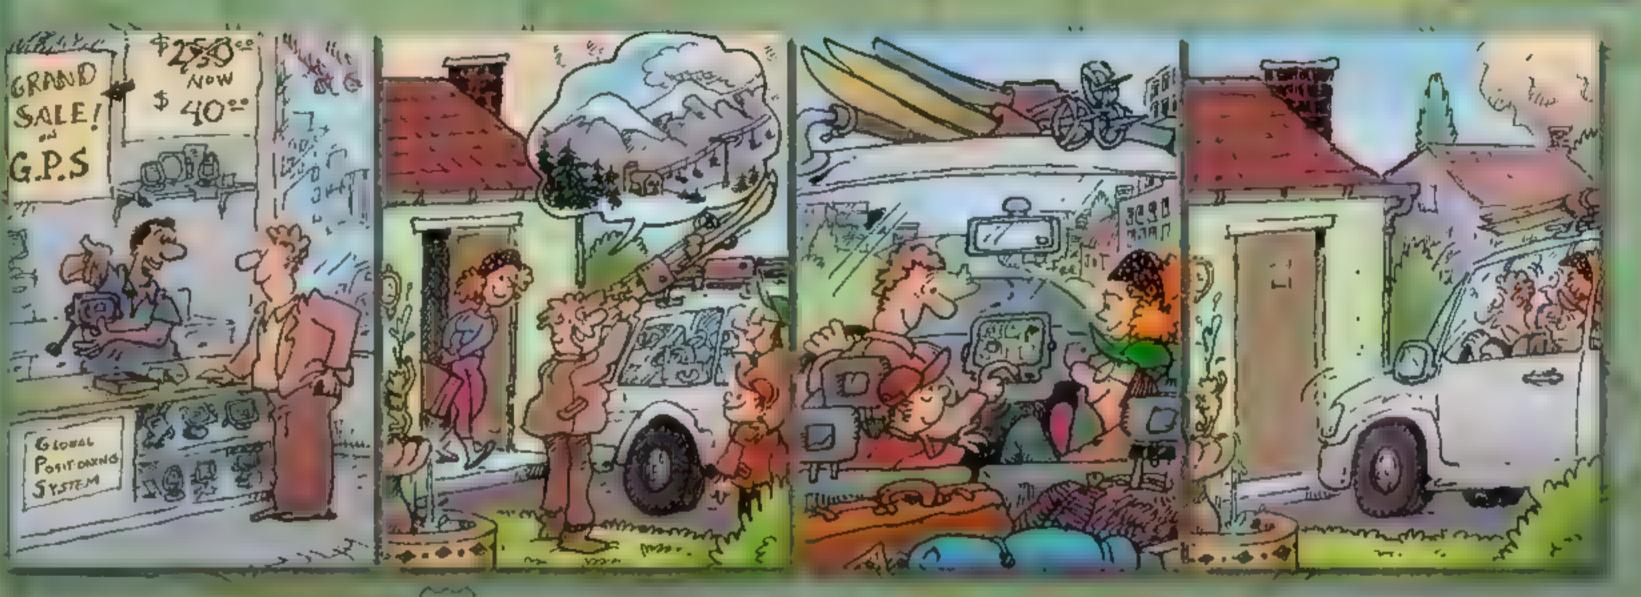

And he was. He went onto be State Steeplechase Champ for two years running. And though he never stopped at the finish line and got the flowers in the winners circle, it was probably just as well in case they had some dumb rule about dead people winning horse races.

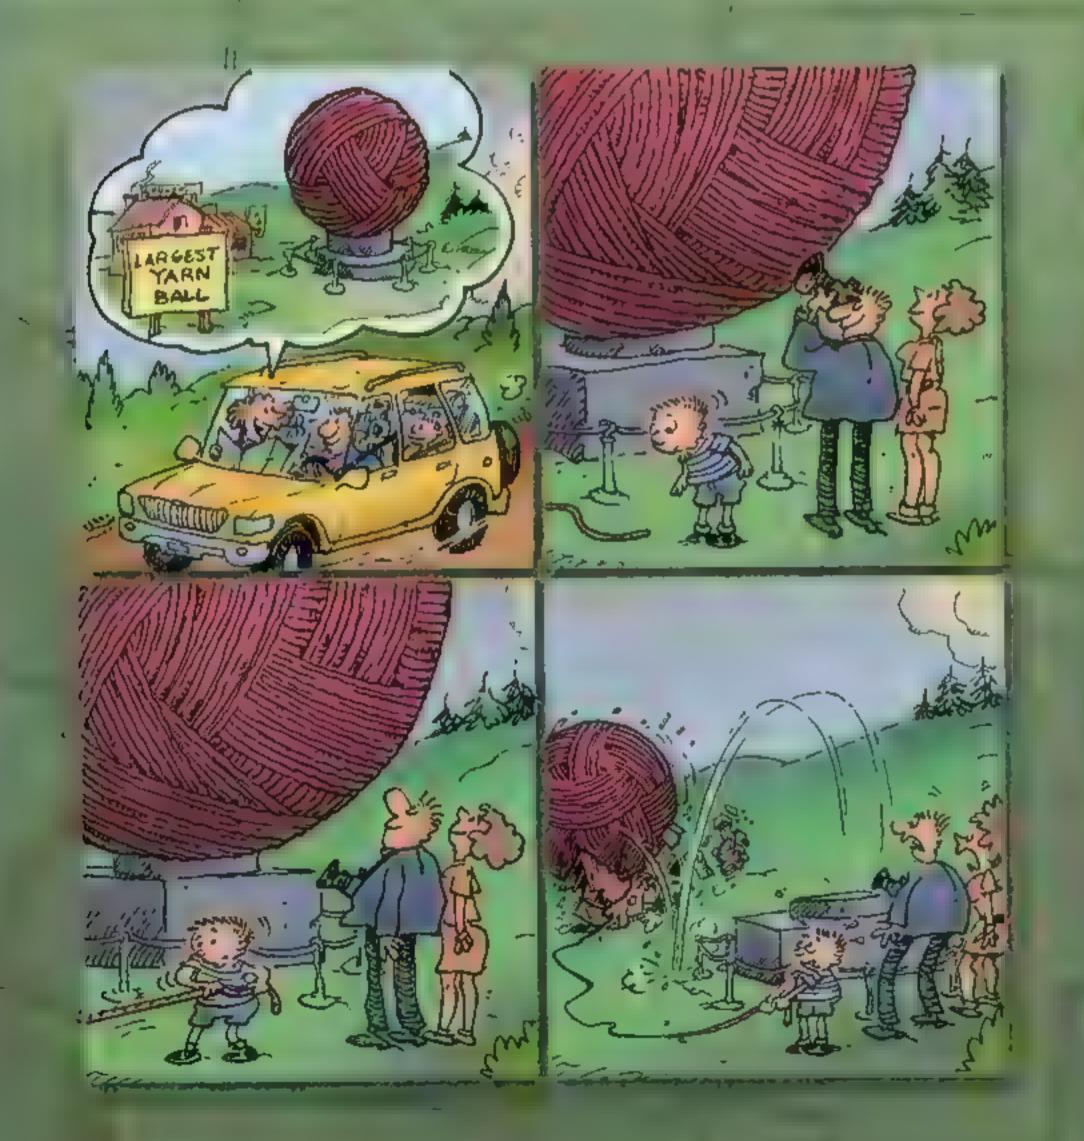

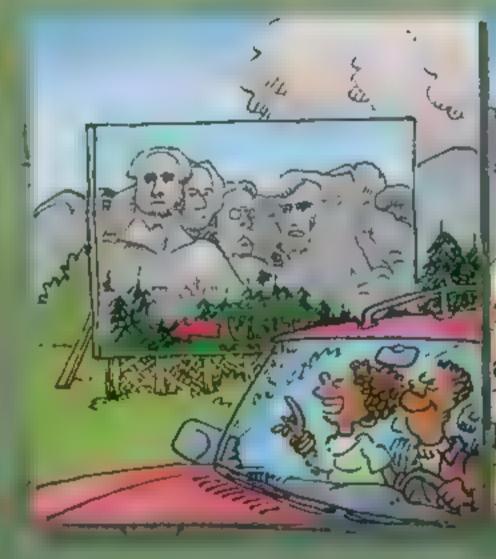

Present A TOOK AT ROAD TRIPS

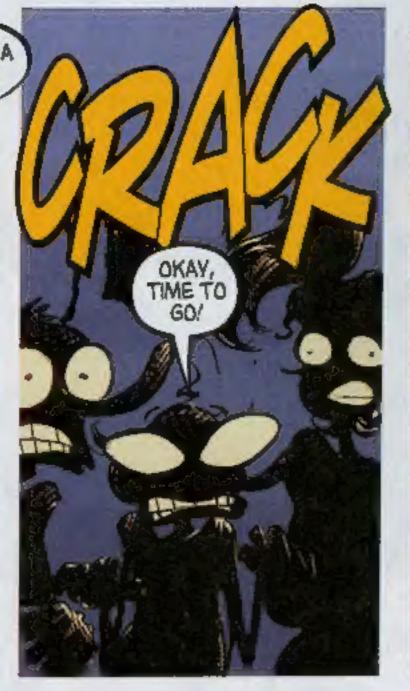

WRITER AND ARTIST- SERGIO ARAGONES

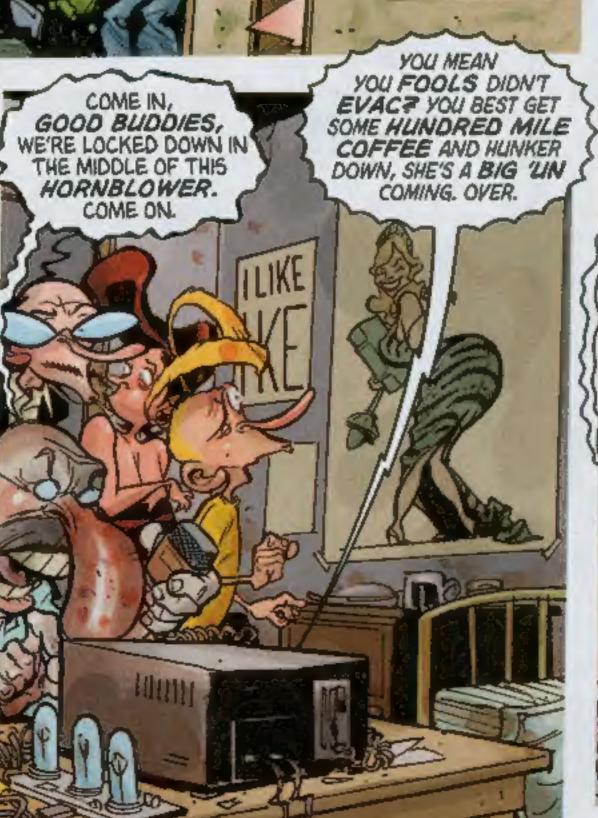

OLD CB? THE ONLY WAY ME AND SOME FRIENDS CAN TALK ABOUT CERTAIN THINGS WITHOUT BEING MONITORED.

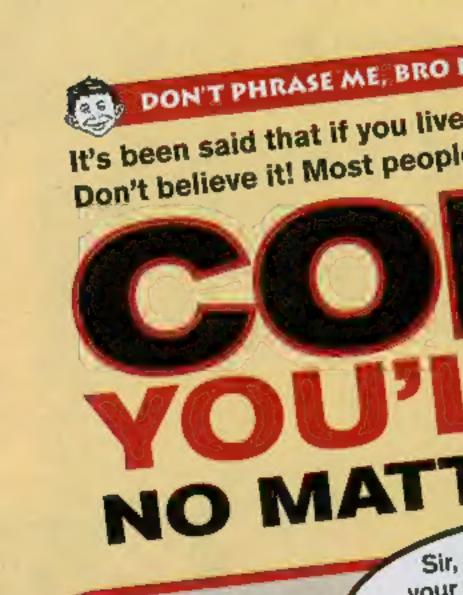

LAW FIRM

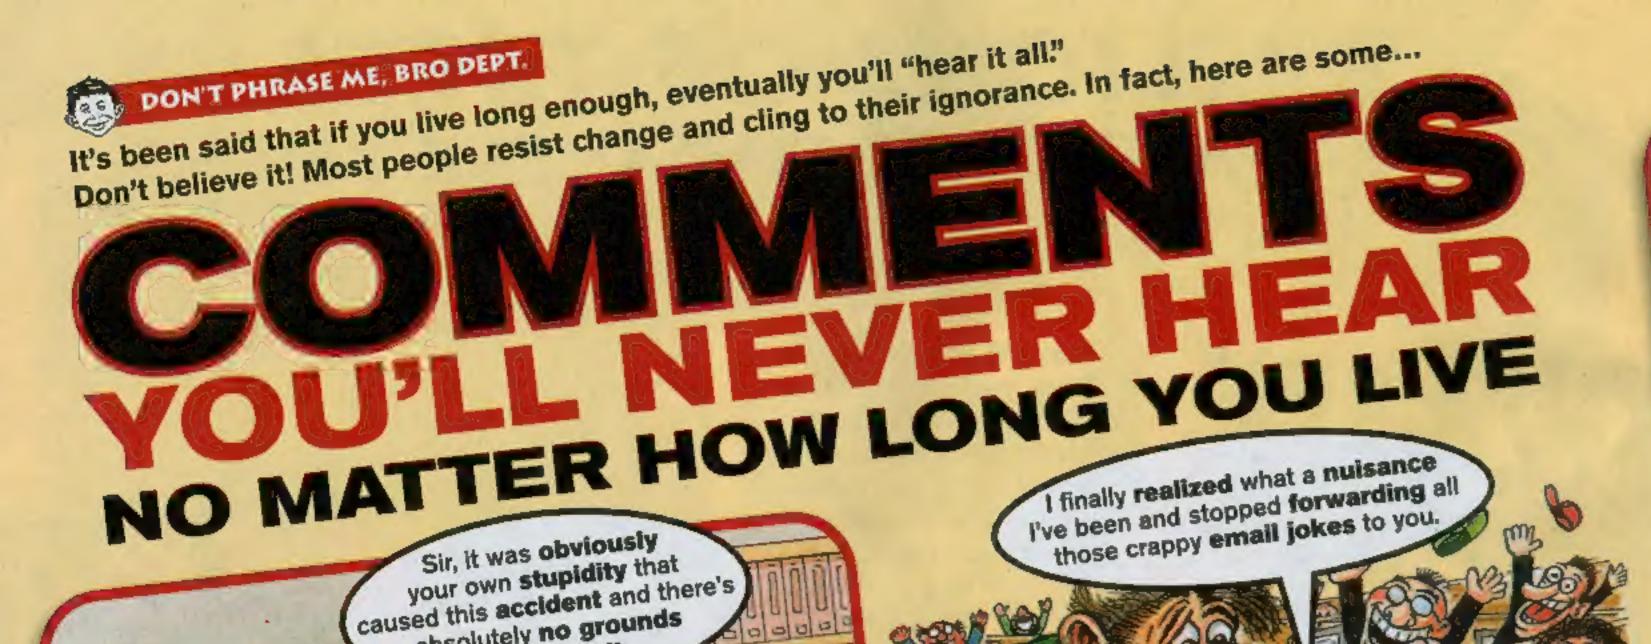

to order another

TurboAbdoFlexBuster,

I wore out the old one from using it so much.

WRITER: DARREN JOHNSON

Excuse me,

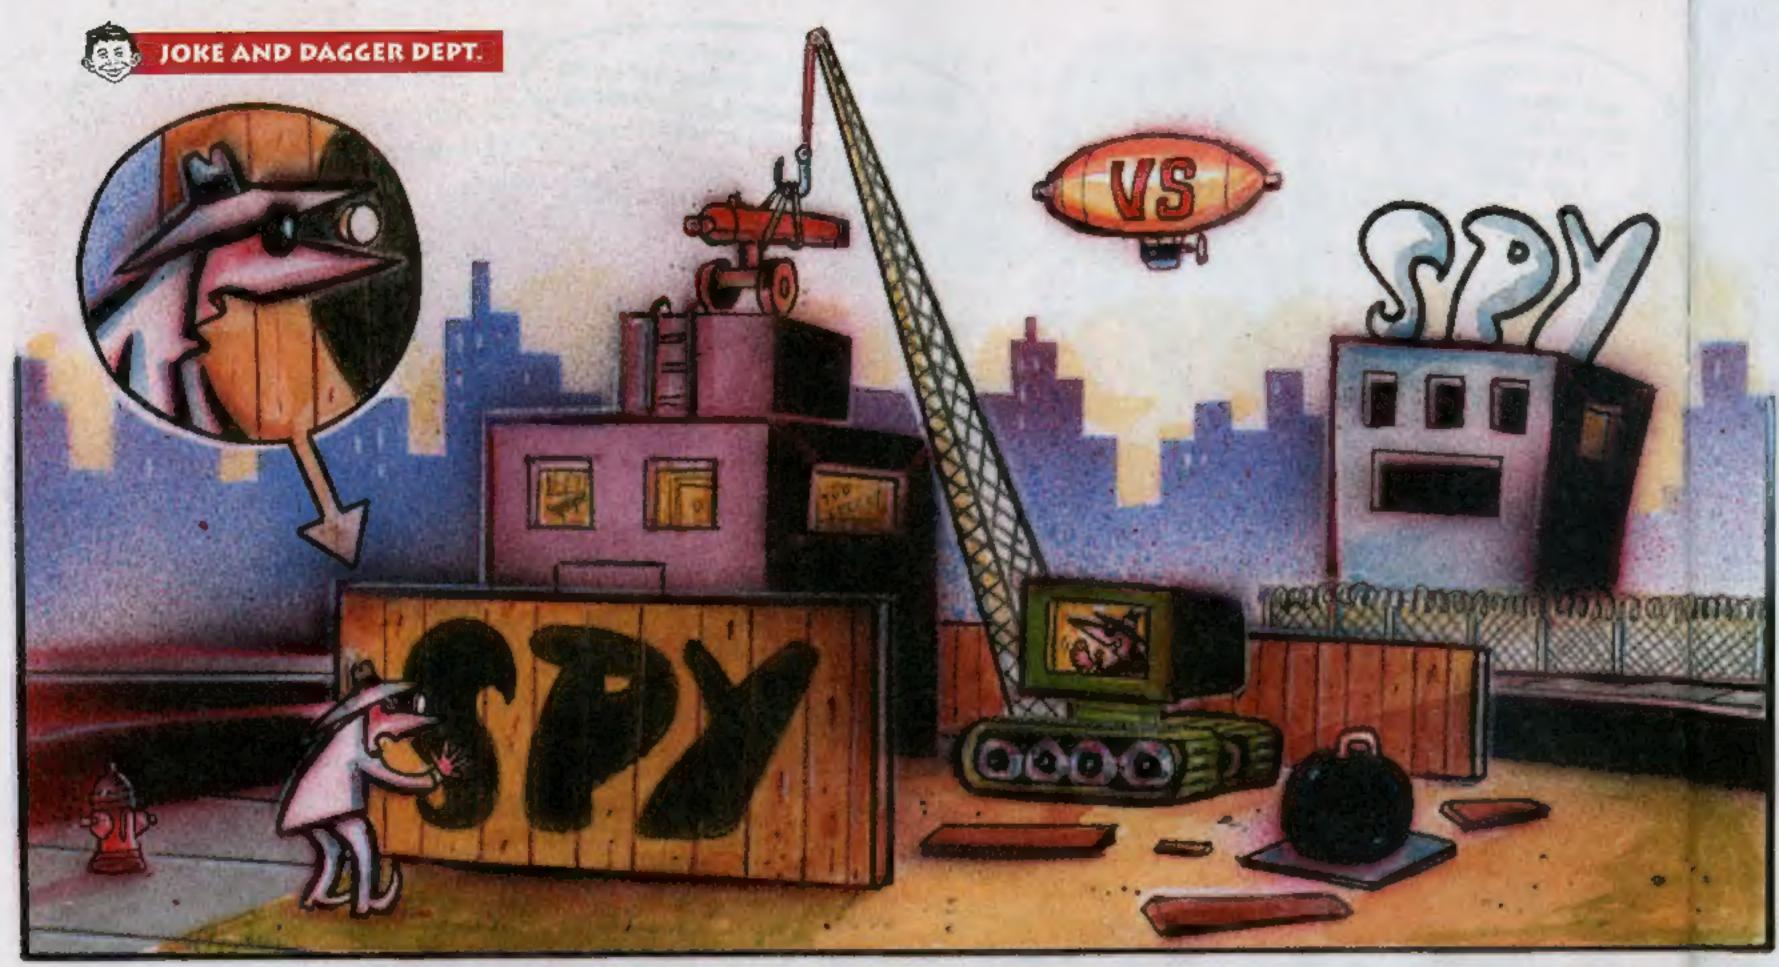

this sounds like a bad time for a lengthy l don't give a rat's ass how big the jackpot is,

I've wasted enough money on that damn lottery!

sales pitch. Sorry to bother you.

absolutely no grounds for a lawsuit.

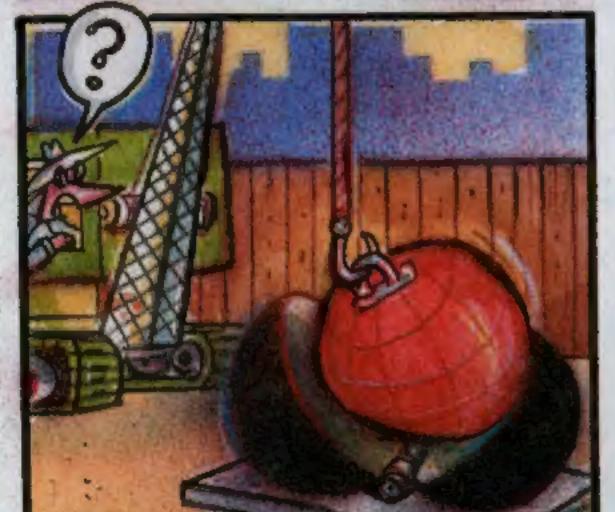

KUPER

WRITER AND ARTIST: PETER KUPER

Planet TAD!!!!!

[About Me]

[Name|Tad] Grade 91 Height, Expressed in Verne Troyers [2.3]

[10 November 04:22pm]

[mood| | wary]

Today there was an oral pop quiz in Civics, and I kind of forgot to do any of the reading. Mr. Davis went around the room, asking each of us to stand up and answer a question. My question was, "List three ways the American system of government differed from a parliamentary system." I told Mr. Davis that the answer really depended on how you defined "system," "government" and "parliamentary," and that while some people might say the American system is very different from a parliamentary system, others would say that it's not very different at all, especially when you compare both of them to a system that's extremely different from both of them, so really, it's all relative and subjective. Then I sat down.

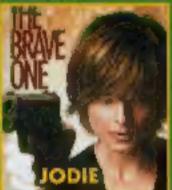

Mr. Davis asked me to stay after class. I was sure he was going to tell me that I'd gotten an F on the quiz. But instead, he said that I should consider joining the school's debate club, because my ability to talk for a solid minute without actually saying anything was really impressive. He said it was a real gift to talk and talk without knowing anything. Plus, he said, it might help me on my college application, after I flunk Civics. And then he laughed.

Mr. Davis has a weird sense of humor sometimes.

[10 November 10:03pm]

I was flipping around on cable tonight, and I caught a glimpse of this weird movie in which Zac Efron goes around New York City, shooting muggers. It was so bizarre that I wound up watching the whole rest of the movie, and then the credits rolled and I realized that it wasn't a Zac Efron movie at all - it was The Brave One, starring Jodie Foster.

I think it's a pretty understandable mistake.

[11 November | 06:41pm]

So, after school, I went to the debate club's adviser, Mrs. Winter, to ask about what the club is like. But as soon as I started asking about it, she got all excited. She said I was joining just in time, since right now, the club only has four members, but a team needs to have five members in order to compete with other schools, so thanks to me, we'll be able to compete in the district debate tournament later this month.

I kept trying to tell her that I wasn't really sure about joining, but she just kept talking like I'd already agreed to be on the team, and by the time I left her classroom, she'd already had me sign an entry form for the tournament. It was weird - it's like she totally ignored what I was saying and just kept on talking until I did what she wanted.

Aw, crap. I just figured out why Mrs. Winter's in charge of the debate club.

[12 November | 05:30pm]

Today was my first day in debate club. It started a little rough — we had a practice debate, and Mrs. Winter said, "Resolved: America should switch to a flat tax." So I said, "OK." And then there was a long, awkward pause, and then she said, "Um, you're supposed to debate that." And I said, "Why? It's already been resolved." And she said, "That's not what resolved means." And I said, "Well, isn't the definition of 'resolved' open to interpretation?" And she said, "No, seriously, stop it." And I said, "Define "it"." And she said, "No." And I said, "Then I win."

I thought I was doing really well, but apparently, that's not how debates work.

[19 November|03:19pm]

[mood| confident]

Well, I've been on the debate team a week now, and I think I'm actually getting pretty good at it. I practiced today with Chuck, on the subject "Resolved: Aquaman is lamer than Sub-Mariner." First I argued for Aquaman being lamer, and I won. Then I argued for Sub-Mariner being lamer, and I won again. (The truth, of course, is that they're equally lame. I mean, they're superheroes who hang out with fish - it's not like either of them is the cool one.)

[20.November | 08:53pm]

[mood] eager]

The big debate tournament's tomorrow, and I gotta say, I'm looking forward to it, if only because once it's over, maybe my friend Chuck will stop making jokes about me being a "master debater." It kind of stopped being funny after the first hundred times.

[21 November | 05:26pm]

[mood] (disappointed)

Today was the debate tournament. I got there a little early, and spent some time talking to the captain of one of the other teams, West Bloomfield High School. Her name's Beth, and she looks like Scarlett Johansson, only hotter. It turns out we agree on a lot of stuff. (We both like Firefly, we both want to own helper monkeys, and we both want to punch Criss Angel in the face). So I was a little nervous when the tournament began, and it turned out I was debating against her. And I got even more nervous when they announced the topic, which was "Resolved: We must take immediate action to stop global warming," because we just finished a whole month of studying that in science class, so I knew a lot about it.

But then Beth whispered, "Good luck - whichever of us wins, I still want to hang out," and passed me her phone number.

I really wanted to impress her, so I argued as hard as I could about how bad global warming is, and how important it is to reverse it, and about, like, polar ice caps and hybrid cars and all that kind of stuff. After I finished, Mrs. Winter said I'd done a really good job of explaining why we need to fight global warming. Then she told me that I was supposed to argue AGAINST fighting global warming. The OTHER SIDE was supposed to make the argument for it. I guess they explained that right around when Beth gave me her number, and I was so distracted that I missed it.

Anyway, we lost the debate - one of the judges told me it was the first time he'd ever awarded someone negative points. When I talked to Beth afterward, she seemed really disappointed in me. Then she sent one of her friends over to ask for her number back.

Afterward, Mrs. Winter asked me to leave the team. She said that I'd just given the most humiliating performance by any debater, ever. I said that that was debatable. And she said, "No. It isn't."